Some Gypsy Rolls
A Hitler Story
Mr. Wallace's Book
Gamble Gently

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1934, King Features Synd.)

IN MYRTLE AVENUE court, Brooklyn, N. Y., Tom Miller, gypsy, fined $10 for telling fortunes, pulled out what reporters described as "a roll that would choke a cow." His smallest was a $100 bill. Other gypsies in court had similar "rolls."

Policewoman Emma Gross remarked to Magistrate Powell:

"And all these people get money from the home relief bureau, too."

That should interest income taxpayers, some of whom are reduced to rolls too small to choke even a calf and composed of bills smaller than $100.

TEN THOUSAND stories are invented and told about Hitler of Germany. Here is one:

The German chancellor, perhaps influenced by the fact that Lloyds now refuses to insure Hitler's life, asked a fortune teller:

"Can you tell me on what day I will die?"

The fortune teller replied:

"I cannot. I can only tell you, positively, that you will die on a Jewish holiday."

To Hitler's demand for an explanation, the fortune teller replied:

"You see, great chancellor, any day on which YOU die will be a Jewish holiday."

MR. WALLACE, secretary of agriculture, publishes "New Frontiers," a book that criticizes frankly.

Great wealth, it seems, has not ceased to be "predatory," and newspapers—this may amaze you—are interested in their own prosperity, among other things.

"New Frontiers," supposed to be an official reply to former President Hoover's book, "Challenge to Liberty," sees danger in many directions.

It recalls the late humorous genius, "Tad's" favorite comparison, "as busy as a one-eyed dog in a sausage shop."

SECRETARY WALLACE suspects, and farmers will be glad to hear it, that "an ignorant, unscrupulous" political attempt will be made this fall to make the government lend $5 a bushel on corn and $1 additional on wheat. If Mr. Wallace's fears are realized the "New Frontiers," as regards United States finance, will be as wide as the Milky Way and as high as the blue star Vega.

BEGINNING OCTOBER 13, if you gamble in Wall Street, the federal reserve board says you must gamble like a little gentleman. No more "hoesing stock gambling." If you buy one hundred dollars worth of stocks you must put up at least $25

MISSISSIPPI TROOPS WILL BE WITHDRAWN

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., Sept. 29.—(P)—Preparations were being made here tonight to withdraw Mississippi national guardsmen who have been here for the past month on textile strike duty, it was learned on good authority.

A series of labor disturbances, the first of which occurred prior to the general textile strike September 4, resulted in Governor Sennett Connor sending troops to protect the property of the Aponaug Manufacturing company here.

The labor troubles were climaxed yesterday with the trial of the first of 12 union men and labor leaders on charges growing out of the alleged whipping and robbery of a mill guard and an asserted attempt to dynamite a transformer house which furnished power to the textile mill.

Pearl Odum, Kosciusko labor leader, was found guilty of a robbery charge and sentenced to ten years imprisonment by Circuit Judge J. F. Allen. Today his attorneys filed a motion for new trial, which was denied and they immediately prepared to carry an appeal to the Mississippi supreme court.

Girl Admits Pawning Jewels, Shoots Self

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29.—(P)—Miss Esther Lombardino, 19, who police said admitted she pawned some of her friend's jewelry today shot and dangerously wounded herself.

Patrolman Robert Childress, Miss Lela Pelligrini, the friend, and a brother of Miss Pelligrini asked Miss Lombardino about the jewelry, the officer said, and she admitted pawning it, a ring and a bracelet.

The officer said Miss Lombardino agreed to accompany them to her home to get the tickets. There, she asked them to wait a moment while she went into another room of the house.

A pistol shot rang out and the young woman was found with a bullet wound in her breast.

EX-SENATOR IS ILL

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 29.—(P)—John Knight Shields, former United States senator from Tennessee and chief justice of the state supreme court, was reported critically ill tonight at his country estate, "Cline-dale," in Granger county.

CONDEMNED PAIR SHOOT THEIR WAY FREE FROM JAIL

Gangsters Suddenly Draw Pistols In Prison At Richmond

3 OFFICERS WOUNDED

Legenza and Mais Seize Auto; Source Of Guns Is Mystery

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 29.—(P)—Shooting their way to freedom in a sensational escape from jail, two notorious gangsters, under sentence of death for murder, today wounded three officers and tonight were being sought over a widespread area.

Walter Legenza and Robert Mais, the criminals, suddenly drew pistols as they were being led from their cells in the Richmond city jail to confer with an attorney.

They shot Warden W. A. Moore and Deputy Sergeant John A. Selph and then ran through the front reception room, firing wildly.

Police Officer W. A. Toots, rushing to the jail entrance from the outside, received a bullet through his chest, perhaps fatal, as the gangsters forced their way through the jail door.

Racing through an alley next to the jail, Legenza and Mais held up a mail truck at Fourteenth street and forced Joe Richardson and H. D. Moon, negro drivers, out at the point of a pistol. They drove the truck several blocks to where E. T. Carpenter was parking a sedan, took it after dragging him from the seat, and drove at a rapid pace and were last seen speeding north on Twentieth street.

By radio and wire every available city and state policeman was summoned to join in the hunt for the two men, who were awaiting transfer to the death cell in the state penitentiary for their part in the holdup and slaying of E. M. Huband, federal reserve bank mail driver here last March. The warning went within 15 minutes to cities on every main highway and roads were guarded.

Legenza, who boasted at his trial that he had cracked safes from New York to New Orleans, and Mais, now suffering from six bullet wounds fired into his back by Baltimore police, had been guarded with the greatest

Five Men Suffocated Beneath Tons Of Muck

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 29.—(P)—Five men died today, suffocated beneath tons of sticky muck that slid suddenly, and without warning upon them as they worked on construction of an intercepting sewer.

Nine other men escaped as the earth, softened by a hard rain, fell into a tunnel 17 feet below the street. Two bodies were recovered within an hour after the cave-in but it took another five hours for scores of men, police and firemen, working feverishly, to reach the other three bodies.

Quadruplets Die Within 20 Minutes After Birth

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(P)—Quadruplets were born today to Mrs. Mary Spinelli, 35, but they all died within 20 minutes.

Mrs. Spinelli's husband, Joseph, recently obtained CWA work after being out of employment for a year. The mother, her husband said, had continued her housework almost until the hour of the four births.

Scarcity of funds, Spinelli said, prevented his wife from receiving proper medical attention during the past few weeks.

Rumors Fly Fast As Barthou-Mussolini Meeting Draws Near

ROME, Sept. 29.—(P)—Rumors were flying thick and fast here today as the time approached for the journey of Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, to Rome to discuss new accords with Premier Mussolini.

It is generally believed that a basis for closer Franco-Italian co-operation politically and economically already has been reached, and that it will be drawn up in concrete form at the meeting here.

Official circles maintain a discreet silence on the subject, but meanwhile the rumor factory grinds out reports of military alliances, international financial triumphs and a dozen other developments.

Barthou is expected here some time after October 5, following his conference with King Alexander of Yugoslavia. It is believed here Barthou will seek to win Yugoslavia's favor toward the Franco-Italian lineup.

Feeling between Italy and Yugoslavia at present is so bitter that it is feared by some Frenchmen that if France enters an agreement with Italy France will alienate the friendship of Yugoslavia.

CIVILIAN AIRPORT TO BE BUILT AT BERNSTEIN PARK

City Of Monroe And Parish Police Jury To Co-operate In Move

Through the cooperation of Monroe city officials and the police jury of Ouachita parish, a modern airport for private civilian fliers will be established immediately at Bernstein park, Mayor Arnold Bernstein said Saturday.

The announcement was made after a conference Saturday morning between several local fliers and city officials, following several recent conferences with a committee from the police jury and the city authorities.

Those in the meeting Saturday were Mayor Bernstein, D. A. Broad, commissioner of finance and public utilities, R. D. Swayze, commissioner of streets and parks; W. I. Neel, city engineer; Dr. B. M. McKoin, Dr. F. P. Rizzo and C. Faser, leaders among the local aviation enthusiasts. At this meeting Mr. Neel was authorized to do the necessary engineering work for the field.

It is expected that the cost of putting the field into excellent condition for an airport will be small. Labor will be provided by city and parish forces and these groups will be able to do practically all of the work that is required. The principal task will be to level off the field, fill in a few ditches and eliminate the rough spots.

It is planned to make the site a standard airport, so that it will be a safe landing place for fliers not acquainted with the field. The ground is being donated for use by the city. Work on the project is expected to get under way at once.

Exact steps to be taken in providing hangars had not been decided upon Saturday, but this was not causing the flying enthusiasts any worry. Under present plans, those who desire to do so may build their own small hangars, under certain restrictions. It is likely that some of the fliers will go in together and build a hangar large enough for several ships.

One plan contemplates the moving of the present hangar from Smoot field. This hangar holds only about five ships and would not be nearly large enough to care for the planes that will be stationed at the field, but

Lacy Provides Bond In Slaying Charge

CLEVELAND, Tenn., Sept. 29.—(P)—Guy Lacy, manager of the Jackson, Miss., baseball club, surrendered to Sheriff C. J. Lawson here today and executed a $5,000 bond for his appearance at a preliminary hearing Tuesday for the alleged slaying of his father-in-law, Lee Payne, 65, at the Payne home at Black Foxe, near here, yesterday.

Lacy, who had been sought by officers since the death of his wife's father, made no statement, according to Squire John D. Bowman, who fixed the bond.

Sheriff Lawson said Lacy shot and fatally wounded his father-in-law following an argument in the highway in front of the Payne home. Lacy, the sheriff said, had gone to Payne's residence after his wife from whom he had been estranged about a week.

Sheriff Lawson said Lacy and Payne figured in another duel two years ago in which Payne shot Lacy in the chest.

Four Persons Killed As Two Cars Collide

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 29.—(P)—Four persons were killed and another injured badly when two automobiles collided about five miles from Houston on the San Antonio highway today.

Three of the four, two men and a girl, were identified as G. L. Mounce, 22, of Houston, Miss Martha Wyatt, 18, of Houston, and J. W. Slayton, 40, of Richmond.

The other victim, a man about 30 years old, heavy set with dark hair, and with the word "Morgan" stencilled on his underwear, had not been identified.

ROOSEVELT PLANS TO ANSWER NRA'S CRITICS TONIGHT

Will Make First Talk To People Since Vacation In Hawaii

SUBJECT IS MYSTERY

Recovery Program Is Outstanding In Speculation Over Speech

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(P)—President Roosevelt drafted today a new accounting of his administration, designed among other things to stop business and political critics of the NRA.

In a man-to-man chat with the people by radio tomorrow night he will speak in this fashion for the first time since last June when he left for a Hawaiian vacation.

Outspoken demands from business leaders for at least a new definition of the present trend of administration policies—especially those vital ones dealing with government spending, budget balancing, currency stabilization and NRA control of business—have been made recently.

Since his Hawaiian visit, President Roosevelt personally has toured the country and in the seclusion of his Hyde Park home has gathered advice from leaders in all walks of life.

It was believed the president has returned to the white house with new ideas and firmer convictions for charting his recovery program and it was generally expressed desire that the chief executive elaborate on the future of government code partnership with business.

The president gave no hint of the subject matter of his speech.

NRA was outstanding in speculation over the president's talk. Already the recovery unit is lashed on an "evolutionary" road toward legislative permanency with a five man board replacing Hugh S. Johnson.

AMERICAN LEGION TO LAUNCH DRIVE

Membership Campaign To Be Pushed Throughout Fifth District

Plans for opening an intensified drive for members of the American Legion in the fifth congressional district were announced Saturday by Sam Rubin, district membership chairman. At the same time, Mr. Rubin announced that downtown headquarters for the campaign were being opened at 115 North Second street, opposite the News-Star-World building.

In an official communication to post commanders, Mr. Rubin gave facts in regard to the campaign as follows:

"Dear Commander: A drive for increase in membership in every post in the fifth district is now in progress. As chairman of your committee, I am herewith asking your complete cooperation for making the year 1934 stand out as a 100 per cent success in reaching your respective quotas. Our slogan for this year is 'Every Member Get a Member.'"

"Permit me to outline to you the plan by which we hope to realize the completion of our goal. The entire fifth district will be divided into four classes, based on membership. The post in each class which gets the largest percentage increase of members between now and November 4 will receive a silver loving cup, to become the property of the post. Also a grand prize will be given to

Explanation Of Jinky Is Finally Given To Readers

Object Of Contest Is To Create Some Sort Of Design

On the streets, at the clubs, in the stores and on the golf links, for the last few weeks every one in the parish of Ouachita, has been wondering just what this Jinky business is all about which appears so often in the World and News-Star.

Now we can tell the world what it is. Jinky is a piece of paper six inches square; Jinkys come in different colors. They are given away absolutely free by certain firms in the cities of Monroe and West Monroe, in co-operation with the World and News-Star just for the asking. You do not have to buy anything to get Jinkys. Simply go to any of the firms listed below and they will be glad to give you five Jinkys as many times as you come to their place of business. Remember the Jinkys are free, all you have to do is to say "May I have some Free Jinkys?"

The object of the Jinky Contest

SUSPECT

Suspected in the trunk murder of Lillian Gallaher, 11-year-old Detroit schoolgirl, Merton W. Goodrich, above, is target of a wide-spread hunt. The body was found in an apartment he had vacated. Goodrich was freed in January from the Lima, Ohio, asylum, where he had been sentenced for another attack.

SOCIAL WORKERS HEAR PROPOSAL TO AID JOBLESS

Plan To Bring End To Unemployment Is Outlined At Meeting

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(P)—A plan to end unemployment and government aid of the needy was outlined today to a nationwide conference of social workers.

The idea, which leading industrialists have had under consideration for several months, was presented to the Mobilization for Human Needs conference by Albert L. Deane, president of the General Motors Holding corporation.

It is an unemployment insurance plan combining an anti-depression central fund like that of England with a form of NRA's hour limitations. Deane, now on leave from the corporation to serve as a deputy administrator of the housing administration, said the plan would involve no expense to the federal government except administration costs.

He described it as follows: A monthly survey would show the average weekly hours of employment feasible in each industry. Into this would be divided the total number of workers in the industry, whether employed or not.

The resulting weekly average would be used to determine what should be the average hours worked in each industry.

Employers would not be required to conform to this average, however.

ARCADIA BANKER CHARGED BY U. S.

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 29.—(P)—W. D. Trulock, cashier and director of the First National Bank of Arcadia, La., was charged by federal authorities here today with embezzlement of approximately $37,500 from the bank. After the charge had been filed with T. O. Brooks, U. S. commissioner, Trulock with his attorney, W. D. Goff, made a voluntary appearance at the commissioner's office for arraignment on the charge.

The bond was fixed at $3,300 and arrangements were immediately made to have bondsmen come from Arcadia.

Trulock, through his attorney, declined to make any statement in the case. The complaint with the commissioner was filed by J. V. Blake, department of justice agent.

BAR ASSOCIATION FLAYS ELECTION IN 3RD DISTRICT

Resolution Is Adopted At Meeting Of Attorneys In Ruston

VOTED UNANIMOUSLY

'Interested In Maintaining Sanctity Of Our Supreme Court'

RUSTON, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)—That the impending election in the third supreme court district for the naming of a successor to the late Justice Winston Overton is a matter of state-wide importance and therefore an election in which every citizen of the state has a vital interest, was emphasized here Saturday by a resolution passed by a regular session of the bar association of the third judicial district.

The third judicial district embraces Lincoln, Union and Jackson parishes.

There were 13 attorneys in attendance when the resolution dealing with the matter was presented for action and the vote favoring the resolution was unanimous.

The resolution follows: "Whereas, the lawyers of the Third Judicial District Bar association have occasion to practice before the supreme court of Louisiana, representing clients whose lives, liberties and properties are at stake, and

"Whereas, while a justice of the supreme court is elected by the voters of the third supreme court district, we, the members of the Third Judicial District Bar association, must have our cases passed on by that justice, we are finally interested in the character and integrity of the justice elected from that district, and

"Whereas, the supreme court of Louisiana is the highest court in our state to which appeals, involving our clients' and our citizens' lives, liberties and properties can be carried, and

"Whereas, we are keenly interested in maintaining the sanctity of our supreme court, and

"Whereas, we greatly desire to have respect for our supreme court and desire to have the conviction of mind that when we carry an appeal to our supreme court that the case

Membership Lists Will Remain Open A Few Days Longer

According to announcement made Saturday night at the campaign headquarters of the Monroe Civic Music association, the lists for prospective membership will remain open a few days longer to permit persons who have not yet availed themselves of the opportunity to identify themselves with the movement to do so by calling at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and taking out their membership cards.

This action was taken, it was stated by Albert Horuff, director of the campaign, in view of the fact that the enrollment has not been sufficiently large to insure the quality of high-class entertainment planned by the committee entrusted with the task of selecting talent for the proposed season.

Cold Drizzle Causes Mercury To Drop Here

A thin, cold drizzle which fell yesterday afternoon brought a 10-degree drop in temperature within a fifteen-minute period, according to the Natural Gas company's thermometer at the city hall. At 4:45 o'clock the thermometer registered 81 degrees. At 5 o'clock it had dropped to 71 degrees.

The drizzle, falling intermittently in the afternoon, became a lively downpour early in the evening and temperatures continued to drop until at a late hour the reading was 62 degrees.

The official report of Miss Kate Key, weather observer, showed a minimum temperature of 72 degrees for the 24-hour period ending at 6 p. m., and a maximum temperature of 90 degrees.

Collector Kills Self In Bathroom Of Home

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29.—(P)—Police reported that Archie Graff, 52, shot himself to death today in the bathroom of his home. He was a collector for a local retail clothing store.

Hearing the discharge of a pistol, his nephew, John McLean, 27, ran to the bathroom and found the man lying on the floor with a bullet wound in his head.

He died a short time afterward, leaving a note which read: "I am sorry this had to happen. All I ask is forgiveness. Goodbye."

The note was signed, "A. Graff."

4 Persons Are Wounded By Frenzied Negro Man

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 29.—(P)—A frenzied negro attempting to escape from the home of an invalid white woman, wounded four persons here today before he was captured.

Mrs. Eleanor Cahill, 25, who said she awakened to find the negro crouched on her bed and threatening her with a knife, was wounded in the thigh in the fight which followed when four white men rushed to her assistance.

The negro told the police he is Lawrence O'Dell, 28, he was charged with cutting with intent to kill, and attempted criminal attack.

GINNING REPORT MADE

WISNER, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)—According to a census report issued as of September 28, there were 17,734 bales of cotton ginned in Franklin parish from the crop of 1934 prior to September 16, compared to 10,031 bales ginned prior to September 16, 1933.

ROGERS HAS HIS SAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(Special)—Just been helping work on a new NRA board Mr. Richberg, is the head of it. Replacing "Bobby." Three executives and two college professors take Hugh Johnson's place in addition to an "exec" committee composed of the cabinet and the president himself.

It looked for a while like they were going to have to call in the marines to replace Johnson.

Everybody wonders what Johnson will do next. I think he will be sent to the Philippines to replace the governor-general, the army and the navy and on days off supervise the Hawaiian islands. Yours for accurate tips.

Yours,

Wile Rogers.

6 PERSONS HURT AS CARS COLLIDE NEAR JONESBORO

Mr. And Mrs. Howard Ricks Of Quitman Are Seriously Injured

JONESBORO, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)—Six persons were injured, two of them critically, in a collision between two automobiles on a curve on the Ruston highway about one mile north of here about 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Those injured were Howard Ricks, 35, Mrs. Howard Ricks, her six-year-old daughter, Mrs. Anna Ricks, mother of Ricks; Mrs. Dell Grisham, sister of Mrs. Howard Ricks, all of Quitman, La., and Miss Maxine Decker, 16, student at Jonesboro high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ricks were the most seriously injured. Mrs. Ricks, who was taken to the Ruston-Lincoln sanitarium at Ruston, suffered a severe concussion of the brain and the outcome of her condition is in doubt.

Her husband, who was brought to a local clinic, received a fractured leg and internal injuries and his condition is said to be serious. The young daughter of the two is also a patient at the clinic here where it was said she is suffering from numerous bruises and cuts.

Mrs. Anna Ricks, who was badly shaken up, did not require hospital attention. Mrs. Grisham sustained cuts and bruises and Miss Decker is suffering from lacerations and bruises. She was brought to the clinic here.

The accident is said to have occurred when Miss Decker, who was driving north, started to make a left turn across the highway to a nearby sand-wich shop. When she saw the car driven by Ricks approaching, it was said, she jammed on her car's brakes and the vehicle skidded directly in the path of the Ricks car, which collided with it. Both automobiles were almost completely demolished.

The prosecutor declined to reveal the woman's name, where she came from, or when he had conducted the examination.

To a suggestion that he might be withholding this information to make her testimony at Hauptmann's trial a surprise, Foley replied:

"That is true, but it is not the principal reason. This is one thing that will not leak out."

Foley's announcement started conjecture as to whether the woman might be the "mysterious Mary" whose picture the Daily News said was in Hauptmann's album of snapshots. The department of justice was said by the paper to be seeking the girl for questioning.

Discussing the case in general, Foley said:

"At present the only man against whom we have sufficient evidence to act in indictments is Hauptmann. We have no new leads. We have no information that might tend to identify anyone as an accomplice."

He had no idea, he said, as to where the unrecovered portion of the ransom money might be. Some of the bills were found in Hauptmann's garage.

Announcing that he was permitting two physicians to visit Hauptmann in his cell in the Bronx county jail, Foley said three alienists would give the prisoner a mental examination next week.

"I cannot report on that," he said in reply to a question

SCHOOL BUILDING TO BE ENLARGED

Four-Room Addition Will Be Constructed At Sterlington

Bids for construction of a four-room addition to the A. L. Smith school at Sterlington will be opened October 11, it was stated Saturday. Plans for the structure have been drawn by J. W. Smith and Associates, Monroe architects.

It is estimated that the addition to the building which will double the size of the present structure, will cost between $7,500 and $10,000. The portion to be added will be a duplication of the present structure and will be erected at the rear of the present building.

Enrollment at the Sterlington school has increased so greatly that the present building was described as entirely inadequate. The increase has been due to an increased population in that area, brought about by increased industrial plants, one of which was constructed about two years ago and another of which is under way.

Seven grades are being taught at Sterlington, but the school building proper is said to be adequate for only four of them. Two rooms in the power plant's community hall have been obtained for temporary use and two of the grades have been placed in one room of the school. Six teachers have been employed in the school, one of them teaching two grades. It is probable that after the addition has been completed another teacher will be employed, making one for each grade.

Elephants On Parade

It has been a long time since the people of Monroe have been treated to the odd sight of nine huge elephants trekking through the business section of the city, but just such a sight is promised when the Barnett Bros. circus comes here Monday for afternoon and evening performances. The elephants, of course, are not the only feature with the Barnett show, which numbers 300 persons, 40 trained horses, lions, tigers, camels and many men and women aerial stars from all parts of the world. Traveling on 67 specially constructed trucks and trailers, the circus will arrive in the early hours of today, and will immediately and quietly wend its way to the circus grounds, where activity for the day starts in earnest.

The day's work will include erecting of the huge tents, feeding the personnel, the watering of the nine elephants, the hustling to and fro of the artists who risk life and limb daily as a means of livelihood, the clowns dashing here, there and everywhere, musicians polishing and tuning their instruments in preparation for the

FAIR PARADE IS SLATED TUESDAY

Elaborate Preparations Are Made For March Through Streets

Elaborate preparations are being made for the Ouachita Valley free fair parade, which will pass through the streets of the Twin Cities Tuesday, beginning at 1 o'clock.

The parade will be led by fair officials, including Mayor C. C. Bell of West Monroe. A feature of special interest will be a highly decorated float, flanked by flying colors, which will convey "Miss West Monroe" through the streets of the two cities.

Home demonstration clubs and 4-H clubs of Ouachita parish will be represented by floats from each community and there will also be a number of decorated cars.

Throng which flooded the city last year are expected to be increased to a large extent with the extensive advertising and announcements that have been made throughout the entire valley of Ouachita parish.

Among the commercial exhibits which will be displayed at the Ouachita Valley fair will be the Brown Paper mill booth, which will be of great interest, showing the process of making paper.

The parish school system is sparing no pains in making its display the most interesting exhibit of any in the fair, as representatives of each grade are making displays showing the progress of the methods of teaching.

Among commercial exhibits there will be displayed booths by the Louisiana Light and Power company, American Service company, the Natural Gas company, Simpson's garage, Ouachita Coca-Cola Bottling company, north Louisiana larger parish, Christian Scientists, the state conservation department, and others. The citizens of West Monroe are looking forward with much anticipation to the days of October 2-6, inclusive.

Good musical programs will be broadcast from time to time and the entire crowd will be able to keep in touch with the daily program through the public address system installed by the McKee Radio Service company of West Monroe. Everything is being done to make the whole week enjoyable to all the fair visitors.

All art entries for the fair association must be made on Monday afternoon and all exhibitors should first come to the fair office, 304 Wood street, to register. There they will be given instructions as to where to take the exhibits. Entries for farm produce must be made on Tuesday morning before 10 o'clock. All registration and entering will be transacted in the fair office and all exhibitors are to come to this office first for further instructions and to avoid delay in getting their exhibits in place.

GIN REPORT MADE
OAK GROVE, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)—A total of 6,265 bales of cotton were ginned in West Carroll parish from the 1934 crop prior to September 16, compared with 4,277 bales ginned up to the same date last year, according to H. W. Womack, special agent of the bureau of census of the department of commerce.

Sequel To Kidnap Story Is Seen In Suit For Divorce

The sequel to the story in today's magazine section of The World and News-Star entitled "The Kidnap Honeymoon That Almost Led to Prison" was seen last Wednesday when Marjorie Crawford, actress-aviatrix, filed suit for divorce in Los Angeles against her husband, R. C. "Dapper Danny" Dowling, dance director.

VETS WILL ATTEND LOUISVILLE MEET

19 Members Of Drum And Bugle Corps Will Leave This Morning

Nineteen members of the drum and bugle corps of the Rodney J. Hobbs post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will leave here at 10:30 o'clock this morning on an Illinois Central train for Louisville, Ky., where they will attend the national encampment, September 30 to October 5, inclusive. The group will be accompanied by William H. Todd of Bastrop, department commander, and C. A. Hunt, former department commander and nominee for commander of the local post.

It is probable that Mrs. H. L. Morrow, department president of the auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will also go to Louisville to attend the convention of the auxiliary.

The drum and bugle corps of the Monroe post has attracted much attention at a number of department conventions and at patriotic celebrations. Because of the excellent showing it has made it has gained some national attention, with the result that an invitation was extended for it to attend the national convention. Members of the local delegation will leave for home on Thursday, the day before the encampment closes. Final sessions of the meeting will be devoted principally to finishing up business details and there will be little occasion to use the drum and bugle corps in these sessions. Earlier in the encampment, however, this band of musicians and those representing other posts are expected to enliven the encampment with lively musical numbers.

Appraising Of Animals In Drouth Areas To Begin Thursday

The appraising of cattle to be purchased in the most severely drouth-stricken wards of Ouachita parish as a part of the agricultural adjustment administration program will begin this week, E. R. Strahan, parish agricultural agent and drouth relief director, announced Saturday.

At a meeting of the parish drouth relief committee here Saturday the number of cattle each farmer in certain wards will be permitted to sell was set, the agent said. Letters appraising the farmers of their allotments were to be mailed by the agent's office.

The letters read in part: "You will please have your cattle at one of the places and time listed below where an appraiser and purchasing agent will tell you what price will be paid for the cattle. If you accept the offer, you will then deliver the cattle to West Monroe, which will complete your part of the transaction."

The places and the time the appraisements are to be made were listed as follows: Ward 8—Thursday, 9 a. m., J. A. Biedenharn's farm; 11 a. m., Ed Rutledge's farm; 2 p. m., Sandel Berry's farm.

Ward 9—Friday, 9 a. m., S. L. Hendrix's farm; and 1:30 p. m., T. T. Jones' farm.

Next Saturday the appraisers will be located in ward five, the following Monday in ward six, Tuesday in ward seven, Wednesday at West Monroe and Thursday at Calhoun, Mr. Strahan said.

2 COURTS OPEN HERE THIS WEEK

Two Grand Juries And One Petit Jury Will Convene Tomorrow

Two grand juries and one petit jury will convene in Monroe at 10 o'clock Monday morning, the two former juries for the purpose of making investigations in connection with the fall terms of court and the latter for jury trials. Grand and petit juries for the United States court for the western district of Louisiana will convene at the new postoffice building and the grand jury for Ouachita parish district court will convene at the parish courthouse.

Trial of cases in federal court proceeds at the same time the grand jury is in session and some of the cases in which indictments are returned are acted upon before the court adjourns. Most of the cases, however, in which it is necessary to summon witnesses are carried over to the next term. In district court the grand jury meets a month in advance of the petit jury and most cases in which indictments are returned are ready for trial when the petit jury meets. The petit jury in district court will meet the first Monday in November.

Those called to serve as grand jurors in federal court are W. B. Hawkins, Epps; J. W. Fedric, Ferriday; J. A. Fitzpatrick, Wyatt; George D. Bland, Newellton; J. P. Montgomery, Bastrop; James L. O'Neal, Choudrant; Foster Kincaid, Winnboro; C. S. Reeves, Bonita; R. B. Lynch, St. Joseph; Adolph Bryan, New Era; Malcolm S. STATE EMPLOYEES PROVIDE BOND IN BALLOT CHARGES

Four Men Are Accused Of Conspiracy To Purchase Votes

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29.—(P)—Four state employees charged late yesterday by the district attorney's office with fraudulent practices in the Sept. 11 Democratic primary appeared today in the office of the criminal sheriff and posted bond in the sum of $1,000 each.

The charges against them were filed in bills of information drawn up by J. Bernard Cocke, assistant district attorney, and alleged irregularities in the second ward.

Each defendant was accused on 12 counts charging violation of the primary election laws and the corrupt practices act in an alleged conspiracy to purchase votes at $1 each to be cast fraudulently for the candidates supported by Senator Huey P. Long in the primary.

The district attorney's office alleged that a monetary offer was made to Robert Gomillion, said to be employed by the federal transient relief office here, for him to purchase votes of transients who would use qualification papers furnished them for voting.

The charge was made that $232 was passed for this purpose.

The bill of information alleged that eleven transients were influenced to vote under these circumstances, that they either voted or attempted illegally to vote in the election, and that Gomillion was promised a state job at $250 a month.

After the charges had been filed Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, whose slate of candidates for congress and other offices lost to the Long candidates, declared that the district attorney had information that "170 illegal votes were cast in the second ward and 417 more bought votes were cast in the fifth ward."

"We made the statement right after the election," said the mayor, "that there was wholesale fraud in the election."

"The system used by Long in the second ward, as charged in the bills of information filed by the district attorney in the criminal court, was the same system used all over the city."

Declaring that there would be further charges, the mayor asserted that "the whole election may be declared illegal."

Those who were charged and who posted bond were: Edward Burke, superintendent of the New Basin Canal and Shell Road; William Farrell and Jake Cuccia, employees of the board and H. Rudolph Heausler, an employee of the Orleans parish voters registration office.

Plans have been completed for a council-wide drive, beginning October 10, to carry on the scouting program in the Ouachita Valley Boy Scout council during the coming year, S. W. Davis, finance chairman, reported Saturday.

The executive board of the council, at a meeting on September 23, approved an operating budget of $5,250 for the fiscal year beginning November 1 and approved a total budget of $7,500 in order to further reduce the old indebtedness.

"We have made marked progress in clearing up old debts during the last year," Mr. Davis said, "and have operated well within our budget. We must now make a determined effort to dispose of all old debts this year and if possible establish our operating budget on a sound basis."

The 10 districts of the Ouachita Valley council, composed of 15 parishes, will participate in the campaign, arranging campaign dates during the month.

A. B. Clarkson will head the local drive as campaign chairman, with W. M. Harper, S. W. Davis, E. H. Harrell, T. O. Bancroft, J. W. Rohr, L. P. Abernathy, H. Masur and H. F. Madison comprising the general committee. This committee has begun work on its initial gifts and expects to complete that part of the campaign prior to October 10.

Mr. Clarkson stated that the general drive will start with a dutch breakfast at Hotel Virginia at 8 o'clock on the morning of October 10, at which time all team workers will receive prospect lists.

Monterey School Farm Sale Is Voted Down

MONTEREY, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)—The proposed sale of the Monterey school farm was discarded here this week when a majority of the voters petitioned against the sale. However, changes in the system of operation of the farm have been promised.

As a major reason for bucking the proposed sale, citizens said they saw in the rapidly growing population of the Black River district the need of more school facilities in the future, when the ground would become valuable. Some want to add the farm land to the school playground.

At present the land is farmed on halves by the school janitor.

Monterey School Farm Sale Is Voted Down

MONTEREY, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)—The proposed sale of the Monterey school farm was discarded here this week when a majority of the voters petitioned against the sale. However, changes in the system of operation of the farm have been promised.

As a major reason for bucking the proposed sale, citizens said they saw in the rapidly growing population of the Black River district the need of more school facilities in the future, when the ground would become valuable. Some want to add the farm land to the school playground.

At present the land is farmed on halves by the school janitor.

by J. Bernard Cocke, assistant district attorney, and alleged irregularities in the second ward.

Each defendant was accused on 12 counts charging violation of the primary election laws and the corrupt practices act in an alleged conspiracy to purchase votes at $1 each to be cast fraudulently for the candidates supported by Senator Huey P. Long in the primary.

The district attorney's office alleged that a monetary offer was made to Robert Gomillion, said to be employed by the federal transient relief office here, for him to purchase votes of transients who would use qualification papers furnished them for voting.

The charge was made that $232 was passed for this purpose.

The bill of information alleged that eleven transients were influenced to vote under these circumstances, that they either voted or attempted illegally to vote in the election, and that Gomillion was promised a state job at $250 a month.

After the charges had been filed Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, whose slate of candidates for congress and other offices lost to the Long candidates, declared that the district attorney had information that "170 illegal votes were cast in the second ward and 417 more bought votes were cast in the fifth ward."

"We made the statement right after the election," said the mayor, "that there was wholesale fraud in the election."

"The system used by Long in the second ward, as charged in the bills of information filed by the district attorney in the criminal court, was the same system used all over the city."

Declaring that there would be further charges, the mayor asserted that "the whole election may be declared illegal."

Those who were charged and who posted bond were: Edward Burke, superintendent of the New Basin Canal and Shell Road; William Farrell and Jake Cuccia, employees of the board and H. Rudolph Heausler, an employee of the Orleans parish voters registration office.

Plans have been completed for a council-wide drive, beginning October 10, to carry on the scouting program in the Ouachita Valley Boy Scout council during the coming year, S. W. Davis, finance chairman, reported Saturday.

The executive board of the council, at a meeting on September 23, approved an operating budget of $5,250 for the fiscal year beginning November 1 and approved a total budget of $7,500 in order to further reduce the old indebtedness.

"We have made marked progress in clearing up old debts during the last year," Mr. Davis said, "and have operated well within our budget. We must now make a determined effort to dispose of all old debts this year and if possible establish our operating budget on a sound basis."

The 10 districts of the Ouachita Valley council, composed of 15 parishes, will participate in the campaign, arranging campaign dates during the month.

A. B. Clarkson will head the local drive as campaign chairman, with W. M. Harper, S. W. Davis, E. H. Harrell, T. O. Bancroft, J. W. Rohr, L. P. Abernathy, H. Masur and H. F. Madison comprising the general committee. This committee has begun work on its initial gifts and expects to complete that part of the campaign prior to October 10.

Mr. Clarkson stated that the general drive will start with a dutch breakfast at Hotel Virginia at 8 o'clock on the morning of October 10, at which time all team workers will receive prospect lists.

It is believed likely that the city and parish may extend their plans to take in the construction of an addition to this hangar which would make it capable of housing most of the planes. Some of the fliers, it is thought, will prefer to have their private hangars.

Dr. McKoin, who has been one of the leaders over a period of many months in urging establishment of a modern airport for private fliers, expressed the opinion Saturday that construction of the field would lend a strong impetus to aviation in Monroe. He thinks that it will not only encourage flying in Monroe, but will draw many airmen from other places to this city.

In Dr. McKoin's opinion, the field is ideally located. It is a comparatively short distance from town and has the advantage of being reached by city bus service. This will enable any flier who lands at the field to come into town for a nickel, whereas taxi service from Selman airport, base of the Delta Air corporation, which carries the air mail route from Atlanta, Ga., to Fort Worth, Texas, is many times that amount.

An advantage which the new airport will have over Smoot field, which has been used to a considerable extent by private fliers, is that it will be much safer. A power line of the Louisiana Power and Light company and a trunk line of the Southern Bell Telephone company make flying unsafe for inexperienced airmen, Dr. McKoin said, and in addition the general layout of the field is far less safe than will be the new airport.

There are now about 15 licensed fliers in Monroe, in addition to those at Selman airport, and there are about 75 student fliers. A number of those who have licenses under the old regulations are not now licensed for the reason that they do not have enough flying hours to their credit. Old regulations required only 10 hours of solo flying before a license could be obtained, whereas the new regulations require 50 hours of solo flying. It is believed that about 15 more student fliers will obtain licenses within a short time after the new airport is established.

It is the plan of local aviation enthusiasts to name the new field Bernstein Park airport.

Announcement was made that a meeting of all private aviators has been called for Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the city hall for a further discussion of plans for the airport.

MYSTERY WOMAN WITNESS ENTERS LINDBERGH CASE

New York officer wrote some letters written by Isidor when he was in the United States to his brother, Pinkus.

Johnson, pushing his researches in Germany energetically, was at the Leipzig police headquarters until 10 p. m. He questioned Mrs. Pinkus Fisch and Hanna Fisch separately.

"I am assuming my conferences with police at 11 a. m.," Johnson told the Associated Press.

"I shall question Pinkus Fisch again. I cannot tell now how long I shall remain in Leipzig."

Johnson caught Fisch on his way to a synagogue to join his family. One minute later and he would have missed him. In cooperation with German police, Johnson took Fisch to police headquarters and was closeted with him for some time.

Fisch was one of the persons Johnson was particularly anxious to question concerning facts about his late brother, Isidor Fisch, who died in Germany last March.

MARINA GETS ACQUAINTED WITH HER ROYAL ENGLISH IN-LAWS

Those preferring a smaller number of employees would pay double time for hours worked over the average. The workers, however, would receive only time and a half. The other pay for extra hours would go into a national employment fund.

Not only would this fund finance work supervised by the government for those not employed in industry, Deane said, but it would furnish the money for cushioning a fall in production and the consequent reduction in purchasing power.

In the latter case a ten year average of weekly hours in each industry would be taken. For each hour the worker was employed less than this average, he would receive half pay.

Deane's plan was presented after President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins, relief administrator, had indicated to the conference their concern over the number still on relief rolls.

Both Mr. Roosevelt and Hopkins said those not deserving aid should be removed from the rolls, and that some states must take a larger share of the burden.

What the technical committee studying social legislation to be presented at the next congress was considering was indicated to the conference by A. J. Altmeyer, assistant secretary of labor. Altmeyer rejected the view that the needy should "be fed as cheaply as possible." He advocated a system of social legislation which would embrace state insurance systems now existing.

Chairman of the technical subcommittee of the security committee named by President Roosevelt, Altmeyer said private savings were "inadequate" to protect the working people against hazards of old age, illness and unemployment.

in real cash, and sometimes you must put up not less than $45 for every hundred.

Who knows what that will do to future "five million share days?"

No margin rule for real estate yet. You may still buy twenty-five million dollars worth of New York or Chicago office buildings on any kind of "shoe string" and you will have the owner's blessing, in addition to the "option to buy."

WHEN YOU READ Ferrero's history of Rome, of the emperor compelled to punish and exile his own daughter for violating rules of morality, you acquire an idea of Roman conditions at that moment.

Future writers of history will find something as enlightening, less shocking, the law suit involving Gloria Vanderbilt, ten-year-old daughter of the late Reginald C. Vanderbilt. The child inherited $4,000,000; her relatives are interested in her. Lawyers are interested in the $4,000,000. Probably the financial weight on little Gloria's shoulders will be less when she finishes with the law suits.

GLORIA VANDERBILT's grandmother tells the court: "I do not believe that Gloria should be in the custody of her mother, who is my daughter, for the welfare of the child herself."

Gloria's grandmother declares that her daughter has neglected the child ever since infancy, leaving little Gloria in Paris while she, the mother, went off on cheerful parties without leaving any address.

The child's nurse testifies that the mother tried to teach her ten-year-old girl to mix cocktails. It was also testified that the child said she would "jump out of the window" if she had to go back to live with her mother.

The child cursed with $4,000,000, appearing in court, frightened, clutching the hand of her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who wishes to take care of her, did not look at her mother or speak to her in court. The judge will decide who shall have possession of her, and spend the interest on $4,000,000, all of which presents an interesting picture of inherited wealth.

TUGWELL SAYS HIGHWAY BONDS WILL BE PAID

Asserts Bids On Local Bridge Will Be Received About Nov. 15

In a telegram to the Morning World, A. P. Tugwell, chairman of the Louisiana highway commission, Saturday announced that "funds have been deposited with paying agents for redemption of 1933 series 'H' highway bonds, called for payment 30th day of this month, will be paid."

The commission chairman did not indicate from what source the money to retire the bonds would be obtained. Mr. Tugwell's telegram was sent in response to a message from the World asking information about plans for resuming construction of the Ouachita river bridge.

The telegram follows: "Re telegram requesting information concerning Monroe bridge, bids will be received for completion of project on or about fifteenth of November. Might also add that funds have been deposited with paying agents for redemption of nineteen hundred thirty nine series 'H' highway bonds called for payment thirtieth day this month, which bonds you in your papers of September ninth stated would not be paid. Hence you might also announce that you were in error and that the highway bonds above mentioned will be paid."

AT THE CAPITOL

A tense note in "His Greatest Gamble," RKO Radio Pictures' current drama starring Richard Dix. The child part is played by little Edith Fellows, herself a veteran of some eighty roles. In his latest role Dix is seen as a devil-may-care father who lives furiously without regretting it. There in the cast include Dorothy Wilson, Bruce Cabot, and Erin O'Brien-Moore. The picture plays today and Monday at the Capitol.

EXPLANATION OF JINKY IS GIVEN

is judged by the design you cut in the paper and not by how fancy you fix it up afterwards. Please don't forget this as the judges who pass on their merit, as we will explain to you later, will throw aside any and all Jinkys which have any pencil marks or have been mounted on card board or the like.

After you have cut some design in your Jinky go to any firms listed below and every time that you spend any money with them, either by purchasing articles or making payments on your account, ask for your Jinky receipts. For instance suppose you pay fifteen dollars on your account, the firm should and will gladly give you Jinky receipts to the amount of fifteen dollars. Of if you should buy something for say eight dollars and fifty cents, you should be given Jinky receipts to the amount of eight dollars and fifty cents. Any time you spend any money with the firms authorized to issue Jinkys and Jinky receipts you should get your receipts. Always demand them. If you do not ask for them you are just like the lady who always left her change on the counter for some one else to come along and pick up. If you don't get your Jinky receipts some one else will and you will be out what belongs to you and what your money has made possible to get. So always demand Jinky receipts when ever you trade with the firms listed below and they will be glad to give them to you at all times.

Once a week for thirteen weeks beginning Oct. 1st, 1934 and ending Jan. 2, 1935, the World and News-Star are going to give away absolutely free forty dollars in cash, divided into a First prize of Fifteen Dollars, Second prize of 10.00 and a third prize of Five Dollars and eight prizes of one dollar each and a booby prize of two dollars. Many other valuable merchandise prizes will be announced later by the merchants themselves. These prizes are to be given to those persons submitting Jinkys on JINKY DAY. In Monroe every Wednesday for the next thirteen weeks will be JINKY DAY. Just think! thirteen separate times you can enter Jinkys. After all a Jinky is a piece of paper with a hole in it, that is certainly easy to make. Maybe you will be one of the winners. Anyway it costs nothing to try and where can you find an easier way to win money than by cutting holes in paper? Now here's how you can enter your Jinkys in the World and News-Star Jinky Contest. As I said above, every time you go to a firm giving Jinkys and Jinky receipts demand your receipts, which will always be given to you gladly by these firms. Whenever you get receipts totalling two dollars and fifty cents you can enter one Jinky in the contest. Something else you must not overlook either, you will find during these thirteen Jinky weeks many advertisements in the Morning World and News-Star carrying the word Jinky or the Jinky Star. You must save all of these advertisements as each one of them is worth fifty cents in receipts, in the Jinky contest; for instance, suppose you go to one store and spend one dollar and get your Jinky receipts and do the same at another store and have saved an advertisement with the Jinky star in it, or the word Jinky, you can bring that advertisement and your receipts to the amount of two dollars and enter your Jinky. You can only use one advertisement with each Jinky entered in the contest. You cannot bring them down five advertisements without any Jinky receipts and enter a Jinky. Now don't fail to save all the advertisements with the word Jinky and Jinky Stars in it, they will become more valuable as the contest goes on. Let's say it all over again. To enter a Jinky on Jinky Day at Jinky Headquarters which will be located at 135 North Second St., you must bring with each Jinky entered, Jinky receipts to the amount of Two Dollars and Fifty Cents or you can bring your Jinky with receipts to the amount of Two Dollars and with one advertisement with Jinky Star in it. Of course the more Jinkys you enter the greater chance you will have of winning the prize money each week. You get Jinky receipts every day but you can only enter Jinkys on JINKY DAYS, Wednesdays. You might say "why should I enter any Jinkys I don't know how to cut any designs in paper. I can't make any of those flowers or pictures of Greta Garbo or Joe E. Brown or President Roosevelt."

Well, folks that's just what you don't have to do to win money in the World and News-Star Jinky Contest. Here's how the Jinkys will be judged:—First, by ODDITY (we just know that any of us can make an old Jinky if we want to). For instance in Atlanta, Georgia, during the Jinky Contest there, one Jinky Day a man, who had been making too many visits to that famous Georgia corn confection, walked into the Jinky office and handed the young lady a Jinky he had made. He had simply folded the Jinky once and with one "whack" with his butcher's cleaver, cut off the corner and made a large square hole in the center of the Jinky. That day there were over seventy-five thousand Jinkys to be judged and when all was said and done, there was only one Jinky entered whose design was just a square hole. The judges laughed and said that any one having the nerve to put in just a square hole in the contest, where there were so many other designs, certainly had entered the oddest Jinky in that contest. They therefore, awarded him the first prize. Well, if you can't cut a square hole in a Jinky just cut some sort of a hole and maybe it will win as one of the oddest ones of the week. After oddity comes originality then last comes artistic merit. Of course, sometimes we will announce in the paper that a prize will be given for the best and most artistic Jinky and then on the other hand we will offer prizes for the WORLD'S WORST JINKY. So all you have to do is to enter, and enter as many as you can. We will be the judges whether they are the WORLD'S WORST or the BEST. The only way you cannot make a Jinky is not to try. Oh! we nearly forgot something—When you bring your Jinkys down to the JINKY HEADQUARTERS for the first time we will give you an identification card bearing a serial number which you will place on your Jinky when you enter them on other JINKY DAYS. NOTE—ALWAYS PUT THE SAME NUMBER ON JINKYS WHEN YOU ENTER THEM ON ANY JINKY DAY. This is the only method of your identification in case you should win a prize. Any contestant who places his name on a Jinky will have that Jinky disqualified in the contest. The judges themselves will not know the winners names until they appear in the following Sunday paper. You have just as much chance as any one if you enter your Jinkys but you cannot win anything if you don't enter the contest. Don't forget now Jinkys are always free every day and don't fail to ask for your Jinky receipts every time you spend any money at all. The best way to do this is to ask for Jinky receipts wherever you trade even if you are not sure that it is a firm authorized to give Jinky receipts. If you once get into this habit you will start keeping the receipts and if you can't use them yourself keep them for your friends or your club or church. In every contest there are several organizations that could have easily won the Grand Prize at the end of the contest if their members had only kept and asked for their Jinky receipts. So start today and always ask for them. They are absolutely free and are simply tokens of appreciation by the merchants for your trade. Now we come to the big news of Jinky. On the last Jinky day the World and News-Star are going to give away one hundred dollars in cash to the party or organizations entering the greatest number of sets of Jinkys. Nothing counts in this particular part of the contest except numbers. You can make any sort of a Jinky—just tear off a corner of a Jinky if you want to, but you must make a lot of Jinkys to make a set. They must be made on a Jinky blank from each one of the co-operating firms of the contest. Remember, a set of Jinkys is a Jinky made from a Jinky blank obtained from each of the co-operating firms in the contest. You do not have to spend your money at each of the firms but you must go to them to get the Jinky blanks that you expect to enter in this big Jinky Set prize contest on the last Jinky Day. In most cities where the Jinky contest has been, different organizations start at once to save their Jinky receipts and their members will endeavor to win the weekly money for themselves and let the Jinkys be entered in the sets for their church or club, for instance—Suppose a party entered fifteen Jinkys from the fifteen different firms on one Jinky Day contest. They could say "I am entering these Jinkys to win the weekly prize money myself" but give my church or club the credit for the sets at the end of the contest. Of course you do not have to give any organization credit for the sets if you don't want to. You can keep them for yourself, and win the grand prize.

In the City of New Orleans there were over one hundred and twenty-nine thousand people making Jinkys and in Atlanta one out of every three people were devotees to this fascinating game. Here is a list of the firms in Monroe that have been authorized to give you Jinkys and Jinky receipts. You will know them by the Jinky Star in their windows. Do not fail to ask for your Jinky receipts when trading with these firms.

Only Confederate Vet
May Attend Reunion
FERRIDAY, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)—Captain William "Uncle Billy" Cross, of near Monterey, the lone surviving Confederate veteran of Concordia parish, has received an invitation to attend the annual reunion of Confederate veterans of Louisiana to be held in Baton Rouge October 17 and 18.
The invitation came to the aged veteran, who is still enjoying good health despite his advanced years, from General W. E. T. Ogletree, commander of the Louisiana division. He will be given free transportation for himself and one attendant in the event he accepts the invitation, in addition to room and meals from the afternoon of October 16 to the afternoon of October 18.

TEXTILE PEACE PROGRAM TO BE OPENED MONDAY

Labor Relations Board
To Name Group To Regulate
'Stretchout'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(P)—The administration plan for peace in the textile industry will be put in full operation early next week with the appointment of a board to regulate the "stretchout," important fundamental cause of the recent strike.

The new textile labor relations board, which is to appoint this second group, is studying a list of possibilities gathered from various sources, including suggestions by both manufacturers and labor leaders. Today it was close to a decision. The labor department prepared meanwhile to set its probe into hours, wages, wage differentials and working conditions in the textile industry into full swing on Monday. It prepared a schedule of items to be included in the survey. Its agents were already in the field prepared to begin work.

On Monday, too, strikers who have been refused reemployment will apply for work again in a move to compile a new list of cases of alleged discrimination.

These will be filled with the textile labor board. Union leaders decided upon this procedure, at the recommendation of the board itself, for the purpose of determining the exact number of such cases and their factual basis.

FARMERS KILL STORKS
BUDAPEST.—(P)—Storks, usually welcomed by peasants, are being killed by farmers in the Nagykoros district because they have been eating young poultry. The drying up of brooks and swamps caused a shortage of the usual stork diet, young frogs and snakes.

365 STUDENTS AT NORTHEAST CENTER

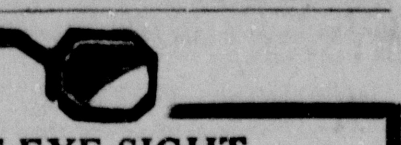

Several More Are Expected To Enroll, Says
Dean Colvert

Enrollment at the Northeast Center of Louisiana State university Saturday had increased to approximately 365, bringing the number of students to about 15 more than on Tuesday, the second day after the opening of the college, Dean C. C. Colvert said. Several more students are expected to enroll Monday and it is probable that others will continue to enroll for the next two weeks.

Activities of various clubs at the college will get under way next week. The first meeting of this kind will be that of the Dramatics club, which will be held Tuesday. This will be followed Wednesday by meetings of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. A meeting of the sophomore class will be held on Thursday and the Honor Scholastic society will meet Friday.

Control of Power

Big league pitchers know that power is not enough. The important thing is to control that power—particularly in tight situations where you've got to bear down to win.

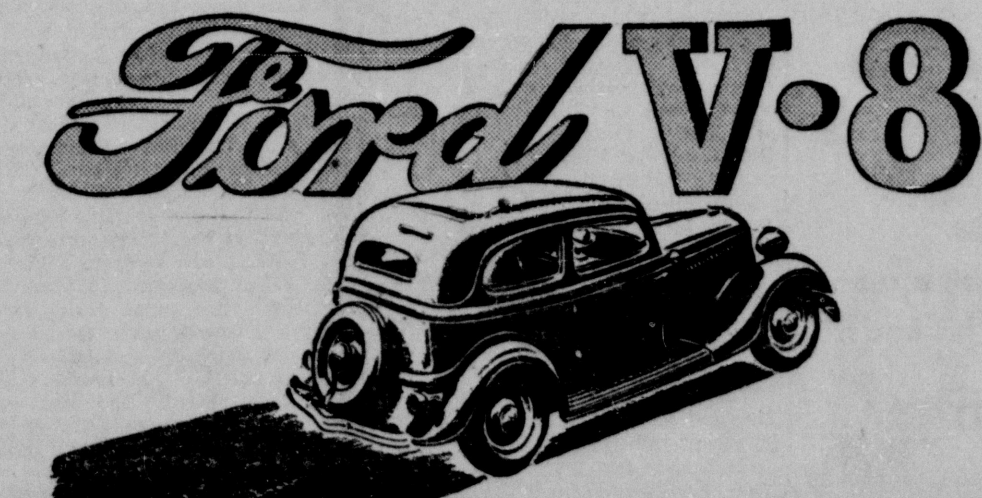

The Ford V-8 gives you all the power you need — and some to spare. But that's only half the story. It performs superbly because it gives you sure, effective control of that power.

Speed that takes you over the pathways of the world and brings you safely home, as fast as you want to go. Stability on curves and a feeling of confidence in every tight situation. A quick change of pace that saves you minutes in traffic.

The Ford V-8 shortens distance, not so much by its potential top speed, but by the swiftness with which it resumes running speed after the inevitable stops and pauses.

It's a seasoned campaigner—this Ford V-8—and it has proved it can take it in many severe tests. It has scored important victories in road races at Elgin, Jacksonville, Los Angeles and Targio Florio. On Labor Day, three Ford V-8 cars broke all previous stock car records for climbing Pike's Peak. The Fords in this climb were equipped with high-compression cylinder heads, optional equipment for altitude driving. The V-type engine holds every major speed record on land, on water and in the air.

Every day—on every road—in the hands of hundreds of thousands of motorists—the Ford V-8 is proving its leadership both by outstanding performance—and by low cost of operation. Drive it yourself and see what a tremendous difference the V-8 engine makes.

SOPHIE KERR'S SENSATIONAL NOVEL OF AN HONEST GIRL AND A SELFISH GIRL IN LOVE WITH THE SAME MAN

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

CHAPTER I

"No, I'm not going with you and you know you don't mind," Jane, very slim and pink and defiant, hung over the banister at the top of the stairs and threw the words down at her waiting aunt.

"They invited you and you accepted. What will I say?" Miss Rosa Terry offered this question mildly, meanwhile fitting new white gloves on her plump white hands.

"Say I've got lots of pleasant things to do than go to their old tea."

"What, for instance?"

"Tell Mrs. March that I'm right in the middle of 'Ann Veronica' and can't bear to stop. She won't let Louise read it."

"I'm to tell Mrs. March that although you said you'd come to her tea you are reading a book she disapproves of and couldn't bear to stop."

The gloves were on now and Miss Rosa was turning in front of the long hall mirror. She was elegant in dark violet taffeta and a violet toque with a white dotted veil. Her purple and white striped parasol with an ivory handle waited on the table with her shiny dark purple leather handbag. She annoyed Jane. She was so comfortably stout, so inexorably serene.

"I don't care what you tell Mrs. March," Jane said angrily. "She's an old cat, and I won't go there to be looked at the way she looks at me and then picked over afterward. Who is she to make the rules for the young people of this town, anyway? If she'd keep better tabs on her angel darling Louise, she'd have plenty to do instead of watching the rest of us."

"You're peevish because she told me you went off with Henry Berwyn at that last beach picnic and stayed from 9 to 11:30 and were pert to the chaperons when they spoke to you about it. It was silly. You knew perfectly well you'd be talked about."

"I don't care if I am. I don't care what anybody says about me in this dump."

Miss Rosa picked up her bag and parasol, gave herself one last approving glance.

"If you don't care what people say about you, Janie, you can be very sure that people won't care what they say. And in a little city like Marburg where social circles are small and intimate everybody's always under observation. It can't be helped. The only places where you can do conspicuous things and not be conspicuous are desert islands or big cosmopolitan cities."

"You've said that before!"

"I'll probably say it again. Don't think that I mind if you talk to Henry Berwyn for two hours and a half steadily, though it must have been a chore. He's such a dumb boy. I know perfectly well you wouldn't have done it except you thought it would shock and bother the chaperons. You're too smart to enjoy being with Henry but you're not smart enough to see what a losing game it is to do something you don't enjoy for the sake of appearing odd and different and making people notice you and disapprove of you. It's just a form of vanity, my dear." With the last word Miss Rosa opened the front door and was on the other side of it before an answer could catch her.

Jane came dashing furiously downstairs but Miss Rosa had walked fast and as she reached the pavement she was fortunate enough to meet two ladies whom she knew, also dressed up and on their way to the March tea, so she proceeded on with them triumphantly, having managed to read Jane a lecture on the beach affair and escape without a scene. Miss Rosa Terry detested scenes, just as she detested a hard bed, a badly cooked dinner, a poor partner at whist, and scratches on her furniture; but in the 15 years since she had taken her brother's orphaned daughter to live with her—Jane was then a lovely, dimpled, willful five-year-old—she had never, not once, tried to correct or admonish Jane without drama. Today Miss Rosa smiled to herself at her success in dodging all but the prelude. They had not reached the big art where Jane always threw up her hands and stormed and sobbed that she was the most unhappy girl in the world, that no one cared what she did or how she felt.

"It isn't that I want more men," said Jane. "It's the whole town. It's dull."

Jane was by far the better player, but if she missed a stroke it fussed her and made her miss the next. Amy played steadily, evenly, and as if she enjoyed it. As soon as the score mounted against Jane she was frantic, smashed her serves, tried to kill every return, declared balls out that were in and turned the game into a fight. Her voice went high and her cheeks scarlet. It made Amy ashamed for her. "It's always like this," thought Amy, distressfully. "I'll have to let her win to calm her."

So she began to slam her own serves into the net, to miss the easiest returns. After two love games Jane's mood was normal, even superior. "You must be getting tired," she said amiably.

"Oh, no. Just a streak of bad luck. I might get you yet," said Amy. "Jane's so silly," she thought. "She never will play for the fun of playing. It spoils things so to get mad if you lose." That was why she had wanted to go for a walk instead of playing tennis. It was easier to be with Jane when they were not doing anything competitive. For her secret satisfaction she allowed herself one good rally, but this time Jane became so hostile that Amy was sorry she'd done it. Again she let her game go down and Jane beamed with triumph. When they had played three sets it was she who suggested that they stop. "Let's sit down and cool off," she said. "I want to fix my hair, too."

"I'll tell you what's the matter with your game, Amy," began Jane, reading justifying hairpins. "You don't study the placing of the ball. You just try to get it over the net any old way."

This was too much for Amy. She flung back her head and began to laugh. She simply couldn't help it. Jane stared at her. "What the matter? I didn't say anything funny."

"No, I just happened to think of something," she must divert Jane quickly. "I wonder who that man is coming out of the museum. Look—in the brown suit."

They both looked. The man was young, tall, square-shouldered. Even from a distance he suggested good tailoring and competent personality. "Somebody to see the eminent Elbert's gold bricks, I suppose," said Jane. She watched the young man as

...

He walked slowly down the street, looking about him as if to locate himself. There was something familiar about him. She felt she must know him, at least have seen him before. Then she remembered Ann Veronica and her lover. Why, this man was like Capes, the tall, blond, ruddy Capes. "He's awfully good-looking," she said.

"He is rather nice," agreed Amy. "Now there it is," grumbled Jane. "If an interesting man does come to town he calls on old Elbert and goes through the museum and then he leaps right off again. Nobody meets him."

"The next time we have Professor Elbert to dinner I might tell him not to be so stingy with his visitors, but to remember that this town is full of beautiful, bored young women thirsting for new experiences. I wonder what he'd say?"

"He'd go pop-eyed. And your father would call you down." She was still watching the young man who stood hesitating at the corner of Jane's street. Amy followed her glance. "Let's go along and take a look at the handsome stranger," she said. "Maybe he's pug-nosed and cross-eyed close to, and that'll resign us to not meeting him." As she spoke she knew that she was voicing the wish in Jane's mind.

"Very well, if you want to," said Jane, assuming indifference but rising instantly.

They were equally tall, slender and straight but Amy, though a year younger, had the more mature, more quiet bearing. Jane was restless, self-conscious, always adjusting her belt, her hair, holding her hands and elbows stiff, watching to see if she was observed. Amy was thinking of Jane's manner as they walked along, wishing that she wouldn't take games so hard and be so tense and so unhappy and yet, with it all, so superior. She knew that it was these traits that made Jane unpopular with their own crowd and she had a shrewd notion that if Jane were more popular she would be much happier. None of the other girls would bother with Henry Berwyn and, though Jane might say it was because he supplied her with cigarettes, Amy felt that it was more probably an effort on Jane's part to have as much attention as anyone else.

"And yet she's so beautiful," thought Amy. "When she's having a good time she's so beautiful she puts out the rest of us. And she dances well, and she's clever. But I'm the only one who really is fond of her. I suppose it all comes down to her being an orphan."

She thought of her own easy, close-bound family with a warm tingle of appreciation. Yet honesty reminded her that it was most unlikely, even if Jane had a mother and father, that she'd be much more attached to them than she was to Miss Rosa.

"Where'd he go?" Amy asked aloud. She had been thinking so hard that she had forgotten to watch the stranger. "Why, he vanished away like a boojum. Isn't that queer?"

"He must have gone down Audubon street. That would be toward the hotel if he's staying at the Reeder."

got roped into a doubles with her was the last time. What I mean is it was the last time! Never again."

"You mean, it was the last time?" she mocked him.

"Don't be picky." Though she was tall, Edgar was tall enough to grin down at her. "Lord, but you look lovely today. There's something about you, woman, that's unique and priceless. And yet behind that peerless countenance there lurks no modicum of common sense. Otherwise you wouldn't be so thick with Jane Terry. And, speaking of Jane, who's the new young man who's calling on her?"

"I don't know. Calling on her when?"

"Right now. I came home just when he went up the steps and it wasn't five minutes later when I saw you going down the street and I galloped out after you."

"What did he look like?"

"He was tall and fair and very handsome. Not so handsome as I am, of course—"

"Did he have on a brown suit?"

"He did. And a straw hat. I can offer you no data on his shirt, socks or tie, as I was not close enough to get the details."

It all clicked together, the man, the time, the place.

"I don't know who he is," said Amy. "I saw him coming out of the museum and walking toward the Terry's. It must be the same man. So that's where he went."

Jane, of course, had seen him enter. "That was why she hurried so and wouldn't let me come in," thought Amy. It was typically Janeish.

"That's where he went, and little do I think of his taste. But maybe he was calling on Miss Rosa and, if so, okay," said Edgar. "Listen, am I coming to see you tonight or is Vanny or Bill Hobart or who?"

"I'll think it over and send out a bulletin," said Amy and went on into her own home. That silly Jane! The man was probably a book agent. (Copyright 1934, by Sophie Kerr) (To be continued)

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

FERRIDAY, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)

—A marriage claiming considerable interest here and over the parish was solemnized in Waterproof on September 23 when Mrs. Hattie Beth Green Black became the wife of Benjamin Goss, son of Mrs. May Goss, formerly of Alabama, but now of Natchez, Miss. Rev. Fomby of Waterproof, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated, and only the members of the immediate two families were present.

The Smithsonian institution in Washington was founded by an Englishman, James Smithson, who bequeathed his estate for that purpose.

FLEMING REPORTS HOME WAS ROBBED

Several Other Cases Investigated By Police Here Yesterday

A report that his home had been entered by a burglar and approximately $5.75 in cash had been stolen from a dresser drawer was made to police headquarters early last night by Charles J. Fleming, 2605 Gordon avenue. The burglar entered the house through a front door which was unlocked. Mr. Fleming reported, Sergeant B. L. Brantley and Officer A. L. Cornett of the police department investigated the robbery.

Theft of a 6-ply cord tire from his automobile was reported to police yesterday afternoon by W. H. Spillers of Fairbanks.

Dolphus Williams, negro living at 1505 DeSard street, told police yesterday morning that his chicken house had been entered Friday night and that five fowls and some turnip greens were missing. Sergeant J. D. Busby discovered tracks made by a woman's shoes leading from the chicken house through a garden up to a sidewalk, where the trail ended. Some of the greens had been dropped at that spot.

Police yesterday afternoon arrested Jesse Wilburt on a charge of larceny of a bicycle, the property of O. W. Buchanan. Clarence Judy was arrested and charged with larceny of clothing, the property of Major Derby, 804 Mississippi street. Judy was released under $25 property bond.

the post which has the largest percentage increase of its respective membership in the entire fifth district. Your post has a chance not only to win the class prize, but also the fifth district prize.

"P. S. The loving cups will be awarded November 4 at a district conference in Monroe. All fifth district membership cards must be reported to the fifth district adjutant, John Coats of Bastrop, on or before November 4."

In addition to the class divisions, the fifth district is also divided into five areas. Drive chairmen and posts located in the respective areas are as follows: Area A, Sam Orchard of Monroe, chairman, Monroe post No. 13, West Monroe post No. 201, Sterlington post No. 207, Bastrop post No. 51, Columbia post No. 162; area B, C. A. Barnett, Ruston, chairman, Ruston post No. 2, Farmerville post No. 149, Jonesboro post No. 112, Hodge post No. 205, Bernice post area C, Dr. William H. Hamley, Lake Providence, chairman, Oak Grove post No. 53, Lake Providence post No. 37, Jonesville post No. 163, Ferriday post No. 148, Vidalia post No. 174, Monterey post No. 204; area E, Warren Hunt, Rayville, chairman, Delhi post No. 55, Winnabow post No. 84, Crowley post No. 200.

The organization which has been set up to conduct the drive is hopeful of placing the fifth district in first place in Louisiana.

GRAND JURY THAT VOTED INDICTMENT AGAINST HAUPTMANN

These men, members of the Bronx county (N. Y.) grand jury, conducted the inquiry leading to the indictment of Bruno Hauptmann on charges of extortion in the Lindbergh kidnapping and murder. Colonel Charles A. Lindeberg himself was one of the last witnesses to tell how he futilely paid $50,000 for the release of his son. In the center is District Attorney Samuel Foley (hands folded) and Patric Dwyer, foreman, who directed the investigation of evidence.

Jonesboro

The Jackson Parish Teachers' association held its annual meeting at the Jonesboro high school building on September 22 at which meeting delegates to the coming state convention were selected. Those authorized to represent the parish group were elected as follows: Webb Swanner, principal of the B. Springs high school, Miss Tressa Wyrick, teacher in the Weston high school, and Morelle Emmons, principal of the Hodge grammar school.

The Jonesboro Parent-Teacher association held its initial meeting for this session on September 20. After appropriate opening exercises conducted by the president, Mrs. I. J. Allen, minutes of the previous meeting were read. A report of the treasurer and the appointment of committees for the ensuing year constituted the business of the meeting. The members present were favored with a selection given by little Dean Stinson. The following committees were appointed by the president: Membership, Mrs. Funderburk; publicity, Miss Christine Sutton and Miss Jessie B. McLauren; program, Mrs. G. S. Wyatt, Mrs. H. M. Gatlin, Miss Saunders; hospitality, Mrs. I. J. Allen. Room mothers were selected for the different rooms in the school. Projects for the coming year were listed as follows: Equipment for the girls' rest room in the high school building and the caring for underprivileged children.

Mrs. John Michaud entertained her bridge club Wednesday in her home at Hodge. Tables for contract were placed in the reception room and were daintily decorated with autumn flowers. High score trophy was awarded to Mrs. T. G. Dennis, which consisted of a handsome pottery vase. After the settling of scores and the awarding of prizes, the hostess served a delicious salad course to the following: Mrs. A. G. McKenzie, Mrs. W. C. McDonald, Mrs. Douglas McLean, Mrs. Ralph Largay, Mrs. Nelson Michaud, Mrs. M. L. Dickerson, Mrs. W. M. McBride, Mrs. Tom Carlin, Mrs. Edwin Hodge and Mrs. Clark Rankin.

On Wednesday the Jonesboro Art club met with Mrs. Brown Taylor as hostess. After the business session was over, a social hour was most enjoyable for the following guests and members: Mrs. A. V. Tait, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. H. W. Ayers, Mrs. W. Braswell, Mrs. Paul Stinson, Mrs. Tommie Cox, Mrs. Mattie Jeffries, Mrs. Wayne Stovall, Mrs. T. G. Littlefield and Mrs. Stanley Lewis. Mrs. Taylor served ice cream and cake for refreshments.

Members of the Thursday evening auction bridge club met in the home of Mrs. Paul Stinson. Three tables were gaily decorated with pink and red radiance roses and arranged with precision in the reception room. Mrs. A. O. Gaar was the high scorer for the evening and received a novel three-minute sand glass as her trophy. Tommie Cox was given a twin deck of cards as the gentleman's prize. Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. S. Kirkland, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bass, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gatlin and Mrs. O. A. Gaar. The beautiful pine forest near Dugdemonia was the selected place for a chicken fry given Thursday night, September 20, with Miss Mary Vernon, home demonstration agent for Jackson parish, as the hostess. Fried chicken was the order of the day, served picnic style. Those present were Bill Holloway, Mrs. Melba Boss, Buddy Ratcliff, Miss Eminoria Robinson, S. A. Benedict, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Naremore, Miss Mildred Farmer, Carol Davis of Arcadia and Bill Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Everett of Crowley announce the marriage of their niece, Clarence Dean Feeney, to J. R. Dupree. Miss Feeney and Mr. Dupree were married on September 23 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett in Crowley. The ceremony was performed by Father Mallo. The bride has been a student at Louisiana state university and the groom has been manager of the A. and P. store in Jonesboro for the last several months. The couple will be at home to their friends at the Talbert hotel.

The young woman's division of the missionary society of the Baptist church met on September 24 in the home of Miss Evelyn Corbett. The meeting was opened with prayer, led by Miss Christine Sutton. Roll call was made by answering with a favorite Bible quotation by each member. Miss Jessie B. McLauren taught the lesson taken from the mission study book. After the benediction the hostess served a salad course to those present as follows: Jessie C. McLauren, Grace Carson, Christine Sutton, Monah Colvin, Ruby Key, Frankie Watts and Pauline May.

The Ruth Brown circle of the Methodist church met with Mrs. J. S. Henley as hostess. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Thurman and Mrs. Henley and the following topics were discussed by the members: "Our Deaconesses Serving in Rural Communities," Mrs. Callaway; "A Field of Opportunity," Mrs. Brumfield; "Missionary News," Mrs. Stevens; "Louisiana Missionary News," Mrs. Jeffries. Mrs. Kavanaugh closed the program with prayer and song. Mrs. Henley served refreshments to those present.

The Young Women's circle of the Methodist church met in the home of Mrs. H. W. Ayers on Monday afternoon with 16 members present. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Rowley Baker, who also gave an interesting synopsis of the most interesting topics in the "World Outlook." Mrs. Myrtle Garrett and Mrs. George Littlefield also gave full discussion on the subject "Our Deaconesses in Rural Communities." Mrs. Charlie Patison gave an interesting discussion on the "Rural South." This being "social day," the members gave a contribution for whatever deserving ing project that was presented. Mrs. Ayers served most delicious refreshments to those present. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Wilfred Scroggins on October 8. Cecil McKinney of Jonesboro and Miss Ellen Terrell of Dodson were married on September 16 in the Methodist church in Ruston, with the Rev. Johns officiating.

BELGIAN NEW DEAL BANS INVESTMENTS BY DEPOSIT BANKS

BRUSSELS, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Armed with new wide powers, the government is beginning its task of giving Belgium a new economic deal. Eight decrees have been issued aiming "at the restoration of confidence, the extension of credit to industry and commerce, and the protection of the investing public."

The extension of credit is to be sought by remodeling the existing national society for industrial credit which already provided industry with $150,000,000 but which will be able to provide $100,000,000 more. Industrialists who have contracted loans at seven or eight per cent and more may exchange these debts for equivalent loans from the society bearing 4.25 per cent interest.

Banks may exchange their frozen industrial credits against 3 per cent debentures issued by the society. Inspired by the American example, Belgium will not allow banks to carry on a mixed business of deposits and investments. Existing "mixed" banks will have until January, 1936, in which to choose which type of business is to be carried on.

Deposit banks will not be allowed to be interested in investment issues except bonds of the Belgian government, the Congo colony, the provinces, or communes.

A complete rebuilding of the Belgian banking system will take place under decree. Other decrees revise and reduce taxes which interfere with industry and commerce, place heavy penalties against those who attempt to evade import duties, and reduce taxation on the receipts of motion picture theaters.

Still further decrees are being prepared. Some are expected to deal with conversion plans, reduction of salaries and pensions and a stricter control of unemployment.

OFFICERS NAMED BY B. V. M. SODALITIES

Officers of the boys' and girls' B. V. M. sodalities of St. Matthew's parochial school were elected at meetings Friday.

Those elected by the boys were: James Gremillion, precept; Leo McStravick, secretary; Henry Cornett, Curtis Sealey and Hubert Beard, counsellors.

Girls named officers as follows: Betty Keller, precept; Marie Louise Zagone, secretary; Lena Danna, treasurer; Louise Aucion, Winnie Beard and Rose Danna, counsellors. Three standing committees, namely, our lady committee, apostolic committee and publicity committee, were selected by the boys, with the counsellors to serve respectively as chairmen of the three committees.

Rev. M. S. Walsh is spiritual director of the two sodalities and Sister Mary Elizabeth is in charge of the girls.

Unit meetings are held every two weeks and a general communion is observed on the second Sunday of each month.

of care, police fearing "outside aid." The manner in which they obtained guns was a complete mystery as no one had been allowed to see them except Mals' mother.

Legenza was to die in the electric chair October 22 and Mals was to follow early in November, and Richmond police had already expressed apprehension at their temporary confinement in the old city jail. The bombing of the Club Forest, gangster rendezvous near the city just before the trial, and reported threats to a member of the Mals jury, caused them to fear "outside aid."

Police hurriedly threw a guard around the Henrico county jail where they were holding Arthur Misunas, confessed participant in the holdup who turned state's witness to name Legenza as the killer and Mals as a member of the gang. Misunas, who is awaiting sentence, said he thought they would come there to "get me" for squealing at the trials.

(1) Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald teamed together in M. G. M.'s pretentious production of "The Merry Widow." (2) Heartbuster Clark Gable and the lovely Joan Crawford again score in "Chained," their latest screen co-starring vehicle. (3) Inimitable Will Rogers in the title role of Irving S. Cobb's "Judge Priest," acclaimed as the greatest of all the Rogers pictures. (4) It's Mae West in "The Belle of the Nineties," the picture that started all the controversy about the screen. (5) A scene from Cecil B. DeMille's sumptuous spectacle and historical romance, "Cleopatra," starring Claudette Colbert. (6) "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" at last reaches the screen and will be one of the most interesting of Famous Fall Features. (7) Janet Gaynor and Lew Ayres, the sweethearts of "State Fair," are in love again in "Servant's Entrance." (8) Norma Shearer and Fredric March in a tender scene from "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," the one picture that has all the movie world agog at the moment. (9) Robert Donat as "The Count of Monte Cristo," one of the big pictures of the year to be seen soon here!

AT LOCAL THEATERS

AT THE PARAMOUNT.—"The Count of Monte Cristo," Harry M. Goetz and Edward Small's million dollar Reliance production of the Alexandre Dumas novel which has thrilled millions of readers in every civilized country in the world, closes its engagement on the screen of the Paramount theater today.

Produced on a lavish scale, with a score of principals and hundreds of supporting players, and released through United Artists, it offers Robert Donat, handsome young English

Lionel Belmore, Wilfred Lucas and others, under the capable direction of Rowland V. Lee, who also collaborated with Philip Dunne and Dan Totheroh on the screen adaptation. Peverell Marley, who has to his credit the distinction of having photographed "The House of Rothschild," and other outstanding screen productions, is responsible for the fine camera work, while Gwen Wakeling created the stunning costumes and John Ducasse Schulze designed the magnificent atmospheric backgrounds of the period.

AT THE CAPITOL.—No matter what characterization he undertakes, Richard Dix consistently delivers a sterling portrayal. His newest effort as the parental participant in a touching dad-and-daughter love in "His Greatest Gamble" is thorough, entertaining and intelligent, making for splendid screen fare.

"His Greatest Gamble," an RKO-Radio Picture which opens a two-day engagement at the Capitol theater today, offers Dix in a role which depicts a father's turn to the right for his young daughters' sake. Sacrificing life, liberty and love to achieve his aim, he is impeded by a fifteen-year prison sentence.

Under his divorced wife's tutelage, the daughter develops into a spineless debutante who allows her mother even to shape her love life. The father breaks his prison bars to come to his daughter's aid. With his versatility, dramatic capabilities and virile acting, Dix provides a denouement crammed with pathos and drama.

"His Greatest Gamble" brings to the screen a member of Hollywood's junior ranks whose talents will astonish screen fans. She is, nine-year-old Edith Fellows who enacts the role of Dix's daughter as a child.

In other supporting roles a cast chock-full of ability supports Dix in "His Greatest Gamble." Among the featured players, Bruce Cabot, Dorothy Wilson, Erin O'Brien-Moore, Shirley Grey and Leonard Carey are outstanding. John Robertson performed a masterly job in directing "His Greatest Gamble."

Tear gas is said to be harmless as far as permanent consequences are concerned, although temporarily uncomfortable to those subjected to it.

Negro Murder Trial
Is Slated This Week

MONTEREY, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)—Dennis Stevenson, negro, will be tried in criminal court at Vidalia some time next week for the alleged murder near here last Sunday afternoon of Joe Edwards, who was described as "a bully" and who was in jail last spring for breaking up a church meeting.

Stevenson killed Edwards by firing four bullets from a pistol into Edwards' face after he was alleged to have reached into his shirt as if for a gun. Lou Edwards, wife of the dead negro, was arrested in connection with the shooting but was free on bond this week.

Masur Says Store Even More Beautiful Than
When First Built

"The entire Palace department store has been re-decorated and we believe it is far more beautiful even than when first built," Sig Masur, president of the concern, said Saturday, adding that, "surely it is a more pleasant place in which to shop."

"Our first floor is decorated in soft beige shades, two neutral tones that are pleasant to the eye and blend beautifully with any color. Our second floor is done in two shades of peach which give a soft, warm light that is cheery and pleasant. Our 'economy' third floor has been done in a soft tan and the entire floor plan has been changed. The ready-to-wear departments have been moved to the rear of the store and enlarged and the millinery department has been doubled in size.

"Our fourth floor, where homemakers and those who like art needle work shop, has been finished in a new shade known as dusty rose, which gives a warm, homey atmosphere to those who shop here for their home needs.

"Our fifth floor has been done in a pale green and ivory, two shades which are especially complimentary to the tiny folks whose mothers shop on this floor.

"Along with that," said Mr. Masur, "we are showing the largest assortment of merchandise in years and we hope everyone will visit our store, see our new decorations and shop for themselves, their families and their home in this outstanding assortment of merchandise."

Okaloosa

EVERYBODY CAN JINKY $620⁰⁰ IN CASH

!!! And Many Additional Prizes To Those Who Can Jinky Best !!!

WHAT A JINKY IS

A Jinky is a piece of paper—a special square of paper which you can secure free of charge at any official dealer authorized to issue Jinkys. All that you have to do is fold this piece of paper one or more times and then, with scissors, razor blade, knife, punch, or just your hands, tear, clip or cut holes in it. When you have finished, unfold it and THEN you have a JINKY. The News-Star—World, in co-operation with the leading merchants of Monroe, is offering hundreds of Dollars, in Cash and many other valuable prizes to the best Jinky Makers in the Monroe Trading Area in accordance with the rules printed in this paper.

HOW TO MAKE A JINKY AND WIN PRIZES

The illustrations below show how easy it is to make a Jinky—

- Figure (1) Shows an open Jinky blank (you must fold a Jinky blank at LEAST ONCE—but you can fold as many times as you wish before cutting.)

USE YOUR OWN INGENUITY

This is only one way suggested—use your own ingenuity to cut them—the more odd they are, the better they are. Experiment as much as you like. Each co-operating firm will gladly give you all of the Jinky blanks you want absolutely free. You do not have to buy anything to get a Jinky blank, ask for all you want. They are yours for the asking. Every one can enter the Jinky Contest, it takes no experience—and is most fascinating to young and old. Everybody is eligible. This captivating fad has spread from the Gulf to the Great Lakes—New Orleans, Atlanta and other Southern Cities have thousands and thousands of Jinky devotees. Remember, too—Jinkys are judged by Oddity and Originality of design, rather than by Artistic merit—so every one has a chance.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

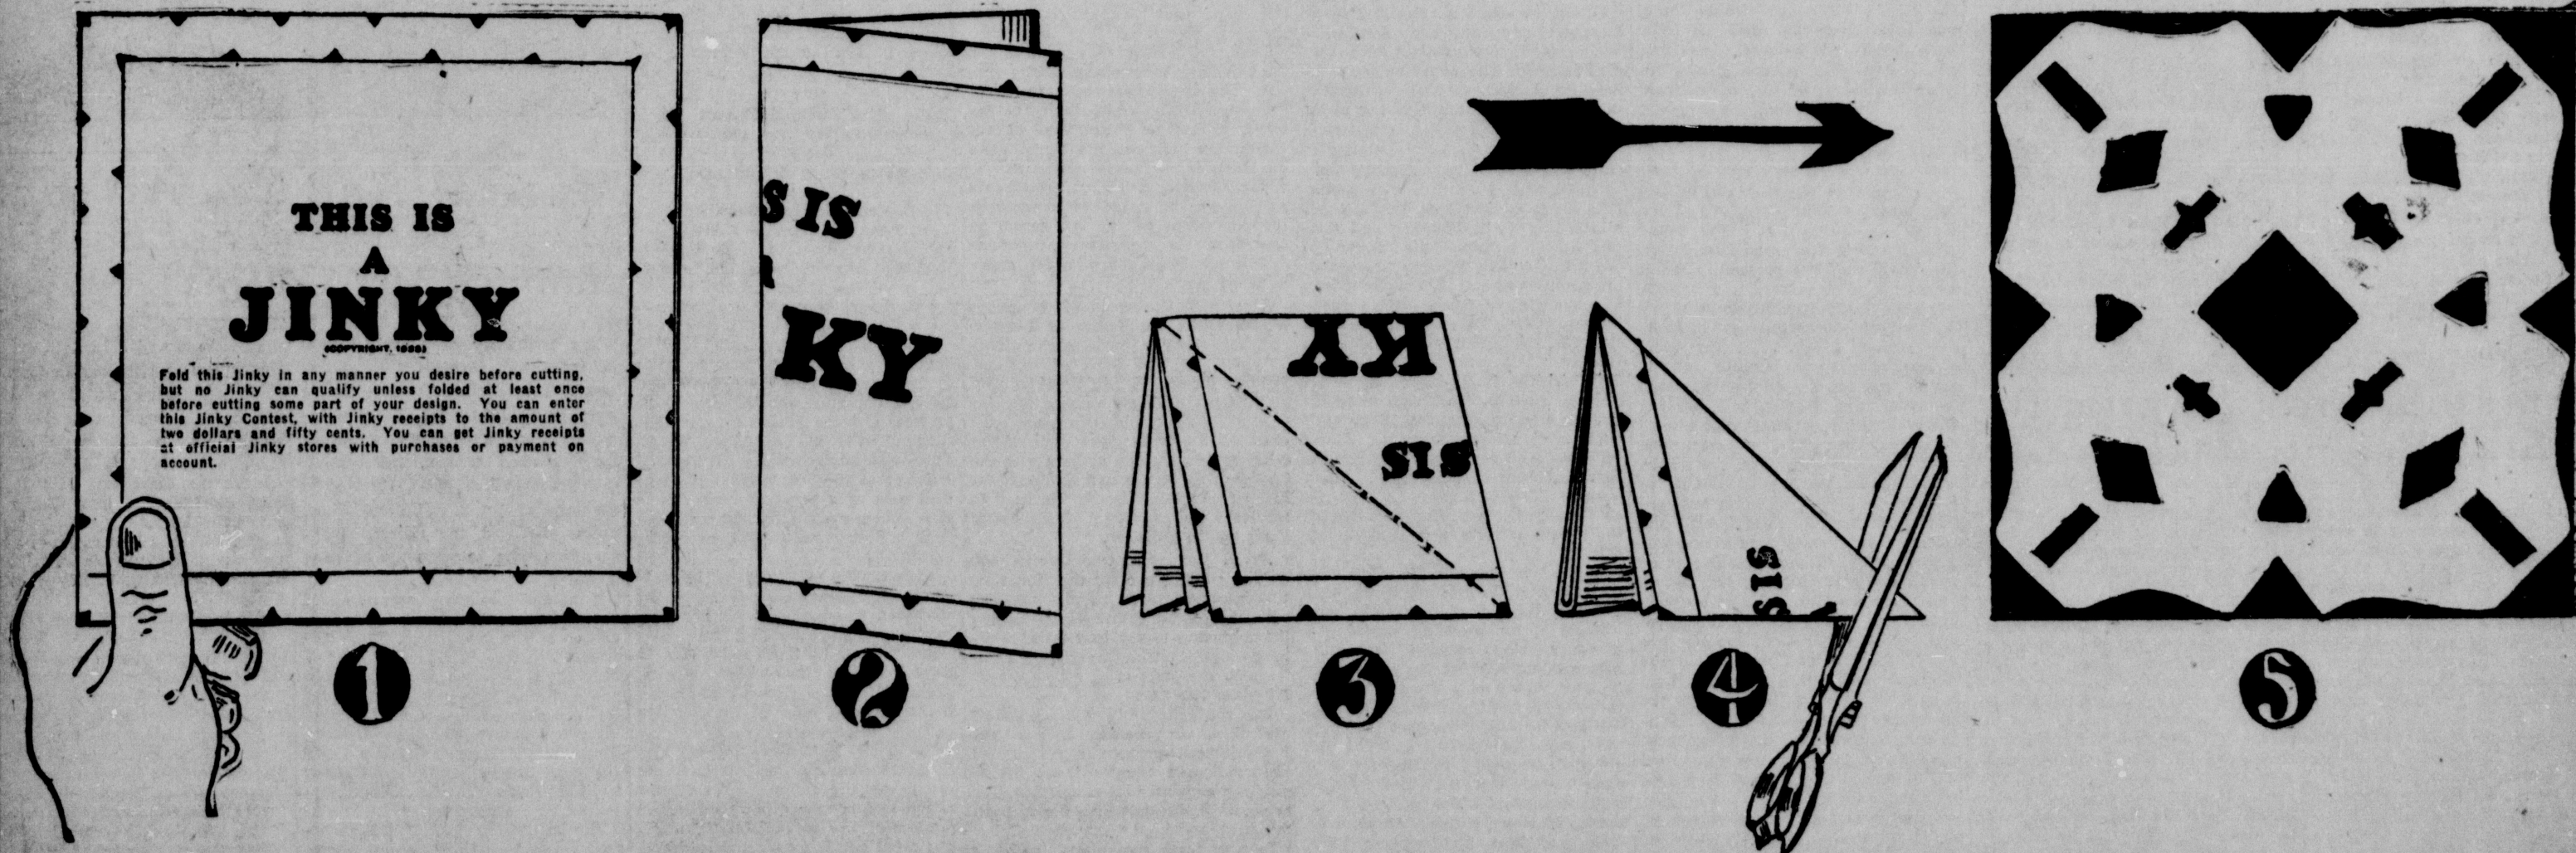

1. The Jinky Contest starts Monday, October 1, and runs for a period of thirteen weeks, ending Tuesday, January 2, 1935.
2. Any person regardless of age, is eligible to enter the Jinky Contest.
3. Any contestant may cut or make as many Jinkys as he wishes, but no Jinky may be entered in the contest unless it is accompanied by $2.50 worth of Jinky Receipts.
4. Contestants will be given Jinky Receipts by co-operating firms with each purchase or payment on account. For example, if a contestant buys merchandise at any of the co-operating firms, he or she will receive Jinky Receipts. If a contestant pays on account, he or she will receive Jinky Receipts.
5. A list of the official stores giving Jinkys and Jinky Receipts will be published in The News-Star—World. You may ask for and get Jinkys and Jinky Receipts any day in the week, but JINKYS MAY BE ENTERED IN THE CONTEST ONLY ON WEDNESDAYS—JINKY DAYS—AT 135 NORTH SECOND ST.
6. Each week's contest will close promptly at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, and winners' names for the week will be published the following Sunday in The Sunday World—News-Star.
7. Jinkys submitted in the contest will be judged according to: (a) ODDITY, (b) ORIGINALITY, and (c) ARTISTIC MERIT. In the event of ties, duplicate prizes will be given.
8. Jinkys submitted in the contest should be original designs and not copies. Any Jinky showing evidence of having been traced will be disqualified.
9. Do not paint, color, mount or decorate Jinkys. And do not place your name on them. Bring your Jinkys to Jinky Headquarters, 135 North Second St., on Wednesdays between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. You will be issued an identification card bearing a serial number. Each contestant's individual serial number will be placed on all his Jinkys entered in the contest. The number on the Jinky will be the only means of identifying the winners when awarding prizes.
10. The judges of the contest will be a committee appointed by The News-Star—World and all entrants agree to accept their decision as final.

SUGGESTIONS: For the contest, small lacy figures and intricate designs are not as desirable as bold, easily recognized designs. Make your Jinkys so the judges will be attracted at once. Don't compel them to study out the design. In other words, make it odd, make it original, and make it as artistic as you can—but, above all, MAKE SOMETHING! You have just as good chance as anyone else!

S O C I E T Y

BY EVE BRADFORD

GOOD MORNING! September dies with a flutter of its golden wings . . . not even a trace of the melancholy days the poets loved to write about . . . We lift our cups to October, the most beautiful month of the autumnal season . . . October is a name for trees that turn to wind-blown fountains flinging golden sprays . . . It is a name for sweet-gum boughs that burn with ruddy brands the cool autumnal day . . . A name for unimagined beauty fanned to sudden blazing by a frosty breath . . . for amber stillness heavy on the land . . . October is a glamorous name for death . . . Summer dies but there are no mourners in this city where we have long since grown impatient of the heat . . . like an unwelcome guest it has stayed too long and we witness its departure with a profound sigh of relief . . . Talk at the present time has ceased to revolve around vacations and the frothy things of life but to more cultural things—more worthwhile topics . . . Last Thursday afternoon, for instance, in the home of Ouida Collins, where Alfred Hennen, Mrs. Julius Kugler and Mrs. Clyde Sanders caught the guests by the magic spell of their music . . . flute, piano and violin are magic instruments in the hands of these artists. . . Ouida fitted beautifully into the charming setting of her home, in a floor length frock of white crepe . . . The simplicity of her individual style of hair dress renders her even more attractive. . . She was all enthusiasm over the prospects of a happy winter in the attic of her home now being fitted up for a sort of play ground for friends who like to drop in on this hospitable person and her husband, Dr. Collins, who is equally as attractive. . . We knew we picked a winner when we selected Clara Virginia Terzia for one of our favorites. . . It needed only the advent of her nineteenth birthday anniversary for sister students at Stephens college to show how keen they are about her . . . the happiness of the day was completed with a long distance call from Fern and Felix. . . Merrill Bush, like all members of her family, a great beauty, was the perfect mannequin at the Junior League style revue Wednesday night . . . a white evening dress shorn with gold was something to dream about . . . whoever designed the black crepe frock with white nun collar must have had her in mind, so perfectly did it suit her. . . Violet Meyer certainly did her stuff that night . . . she not only selected Merrill but a lot of other beauties. . . Violet Martin as demure as her own name in a blue gown that accentuated the flower like quality of her skin. . . India Stubbs with hair in

Engagement Of Miss Krauss Comes As Great Surprise To Many Friends In This City

One of the most interesting announcements of the season is being made today by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Krauss of this city who tell of the engagement of their lovely daughter, Miss Bobette Krauss, to Mr. Stewart Doernberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Doernberg of Cincinnati, Ohio. Miss Krauss, who has been spending the past several months in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Leon Saks of Cincinnati, will arrive home shortly to complete plans for the wedding to be solemnized in this city on a date not yet decided upon. Miss Krauss, a graduate of the Monroe city high school, attended Sophie Newcomb college and last year did substitute work in the city schools. She is a most attractive person and a general favorite in younger social circles. Exceeding regret is being manifested over her departure from this city following her marriage to Mr. Doernberg. Mr. and Mrs. Krauss had the pleasure of meeting their daughter's fiancé and his parents during their recent visit in the house of Dr. and Mrs. Saks in Cincinnati. Mr. Doernberg is a prominent young business man and a graduate of the University of Cincinnati. He is a member of Phi Beta Delta fraternity. Mrs. Thomas Gordon Odem is making her home for the time being with her daughter, Mrs. William Quiggles, to the delight of friends who met her during previous visits in the city.

fect host. . . Violet Meyer's grace and poise and sincerity of purpose injected into the task of assuming the responsibility of the revue. . . Had such an interesting talk fest with Alfred Hennen over our coffee cups at a reception the other day. . . It seems that members of his family gather every summer at their "old Kentucky home." . . . It is the scene of fond recollections in every sense of the word as everything in the home is just as it was when they were young. . . The father and mother, long since departed from this life, left the home, filled with valuable antiques, to their children and rather than divide these precious possessions they have left them in the old home where they meet every year and live over again the happy days of yore. . . We are reminded at this time of a recent visitor in the home of Mrs. D. M. Sholars who returned to Monroe after an absence of forty years. . . Ruby Wilson of Oklahoma City, formerly Ruby Kegwiler of Monroe was a reigning belle during the gay nineties and returned to find Mrs. Sholars still charming and living life as it is being lived today. . . It is difficult, she said to live elsewhere when one's heart is in the soil and traditions of Louisiana . . . having spent her girlhood in this city that she loves so well, she finds herself acting as ambassador plenipotentiary from Louisiana to any place she goes. . . It is a strange thing, but quite true, that they all come back sometime to Monroe. . . Other climes and other friends attract but there is a strong tie that draws them back to the city beside the gently flowing Ouachita. . . The censors rant and rave over "sex" pictures yet they stay by their own fireside when a beautiful picture such as "The Count of Monte Cristo" is shown. . . We noted when viewing this wonderful movie, the small audience present, when it merited a packed house . . . without a doubt this superb picture is one of the most noteworthy seen in Monroe in many a day. . . The storm at sea, the luxury of settings, and the acting exceeds in quality anything presented this year. . . Blanche Oliver is being besieged with invitations since her home has started to walk out from under her. . . Like a gallant captain she is sticking to the ship until every shrub in her yard has been removed even though she suffers a pang every time a pine tree is felled. . . Blanche planted those pine trees thirteen years ago and in return for the love and care lavished upon them they grew and flourished and protected her from summer sun . . . like the woodman of old she wants to protect them now but there is no such word in the lexicon of the government levee official. . . It is rather devastating to watch these comfortable, lovely homes dismantled and moved to new surroundings into which they do not fit. . . It is rather like wearing a misfit suit of clothes or wearing a hat that belongs to the other fellow. . . Goodbye, will see you at the circus.

In the pictures today we have Miss Frances Browning, a member of the Theater Guild Players of the Northeast Center of the Louisiana State university who will play the leading role in the clever one-act "A Wedding" to be presented on the stage at the Capitol theater, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, October the second and third. Miss Browning a popular member of the younger set, possesses considerable histrionic ability and was seen to splendid advantage in "Green Stockings" last year. (Left)

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Cage, bride and groom of recent date and in whose marriage the interest of many friends is centered. Mrs. Cage, before her marriage was Miss Virginia Ziegler, popular member of the younger set. (Center)

Miss Gertrude Feazel, lovely young daughter of Representative and Mrs. W. C. Feazel who will spend the winter in Washington, D. C., student at King-Smith studio where she will specialize in dancing. Miss Feazel graduated in June from Gulf Park college, Gulfport, Miss. (Right)

Miss Katherine Morrison, lovely member of the young college set who left last week for Baton Rouge to complete her studies at the Louisiana State university where she is a member of the senior class. (Lower right)

Returning Vacationists Bring Back Glowing Tales Of Life On Foreign Shores

Of all vacationists returning home from a summer of travel, none have been more benefited than Mrs. Marion Learned, who with her two sons, Alvah and Noel, spent three months in England, the country of her birth. Shipping their automobile from New York, they were privileged to enjoy places of interest accessible only to those who drive their own motor. It is a joy to hear Mrs. Learned tell of strolling down Piccadilly and Rotten Row, learning the routes of "tuppenny" tubes, visiting the cathedrals, museums and historic buildings. The changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace or at St. James is a sight that always stirs the visitor to London. The ceremony takes place daily exactly on the stroke of eleven o'clock, when the sovereign is not in residence at Buckingham. Even with such rival attractions as St. Paul's with its whispering gallery, London Bridge, houses of parliament, British museum, Tate Gallery and the haunts of Charles Dickens, the changing of the guards attracts enormous crowds daily. While it is impressive and perhaps the last word in military finish, that does not fully account for the keen interest of the traveling world in a maneuver that lasts no more than fifteen minutes. What the world really goes to see is a ceremonial that possesses a rich tradition. The first life guards were those that protected the person of Charles II. The life guards are highly ornamental with their round hats with broad brims high crowns and white feathers. Their scarlet coats were richly ornamented with gold lace, their sleeves wide. Wide white collars, scarlet sashes, ruffles at wrists, boots to the middle of the thigh were distinct features of the early costumes. The band which always plays for the ceremony is an exceptionally fine one. The Coldstream regiment, in its long, well-fitting coats nearly to the heels, makes an extremely elegant appearance. Across the street from St. James is the lovely memorial, the artist fountain to Queen Alexandria by Gilbert. It is indeed a privilege for Americans to see this ceremony that stirs the imagination, knowing that it has been going on for many hundreds of years. A regiment of the guards is always quartered at the Tower of London, and from there it furnishes the night guard for the Bank of England. From 6 o'clock in the evening until six in the morning the guard remains on duty and for this service the governor of the bank gives each soldier a bright new shilling and supplies the officer of the guard with a dinner for himself and two friends. He used to receive a guinea, but it was changed years ago to a dinner. Alvah Learned, who visited his mother's birthplace for the first time this summer, was simply charmed with the quaint countryside. He had the following to say in a letter written to Mrs. Blanche Oliver from Bideford, N. Devonshire: My dear Blanche: Has mummie told you absolutely everything we have done in England? I think that perhaps she has, but nevertheless I reserve the right to give my own account of the last five or six days, during which I have been the most delighted with England. London was marvelous with its

Monroe Girl Is Judged Highest Honor Student

Miss Alwine Mulhearn, daughter of Mr. P. Mulhearn of this city, was selected one of the nine highest ranking students in the law department of Tulane university for membership on the staff of the Tulane Law Review, quarterly publication. The December issue will contain leading articles by prominent legal authorities of the United States and other countries and case notes, comments, book reviews and editorials by students and faculty members of the Tulane law college. Leading articles which will appear in the publication include "Trends in Louisiana Law of the Family," by Dr. Harriet Daggett, professor of law at Louisiana State university, "Responsibility of the State in Internal (Municipal) Law," by Dr. Ernst Freund, professor of law at the University of Chicago; and "Practical Ethnology in Modern Jurisprudence and Legislation," by Dr. Leonard Adam, editor of a leading legal publication in Germany and former professor in law at the University of Berlin.

Mrs. James B. Baker announces the marriage of her daughter to Captain Lloyd C. Blackburn of the United States Army on Monday the 17th of September Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-four New Orleans, La. At Home, Maxwell Field, Ala.

Mrs. Phil Albright was the guest of honor at a beautifully planned affair in the home of Mrs. George Albright ere her departure for her new home in New Orleans where she and Mr. Albright will in the future reside. The outstanding feature of the afternoon was the presentation of beautiful gifts of a personal nature from Mrs. Albright's old friends who witness her departure with exceeding regret. The serving of luscious refreshments brought the pleasures of the afternoon to conclusion for Mrs. Albright and Mrs. T. Miles, Mrs. Clay Gamble, Mrs. T. H. Albright, Mrs. C. Boyce, Mrs. O. C. Lindsey, Mrs. E. Heslip, Mrs. A. J. New, Miss Bernice Bickerson and Miss Marjorie Miles. Mr. Jack Manheim, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Manheim of this city, has just passed the Tennessee bar examination and is now established in the practice of law at Jackson, Tenn. He was rated as third highest honor student graduating from Cumberland university.

Musical And Tea Attracts Many Guests To The Charming Home Of Mrs. Collins Last Week

The popularity of silver teas has never waned through the passing years. They continue to grow in interest as manifested on Thursday afternoon when a company of beautifully gowned women, members of the Grace church guild, received at the home of Mrs. S. A. Collins, where guests thronged the flower banked reception suite between the hours of 4 and 6. A delightful musical program added the last note of elegance to an afternoon of complete charm. Such well known artists as Mrs. Hadley Leavell, Mrs. Clyde Sanders, Mrs. Kate Allison and Mrs. Henry Whitfield, lifted their beautiful voices in song. Other prominent artists, Mr. Alfred Hennen, flutist, Mrs. J. Kugler and Mrs. Louis Hulium, pianists, and Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Roger Frisbie, violinists, appeared on the program. The beautifully appointed lace covered tea table with its central plaque of purple water hyacinth, attracted the guests to the dining room, where they were served a luscious array of confections by Miss Johnnie Cox, Miss Helena Hayward and Miss Jennie Hanna. The handsome silver coffee service was presided over by Mrs. E. R. Yancey and Mrs. Alfred Hennen, and at the other end of the table, Mrs. Buckner and Mrs. George Varino poured tea. Mrs. Collins' graciousness as a hostess was a distinct factor. She was assisted by Mrs. E. F. Hayward, Mrs. Richard Troy, Mrs. T. C. Pemberton and other members of the auxiliary. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hall Schneider of Lake Providence, La., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Nan Schneider Phillips to Dr. Gideon Douglas Williams. The marriage to be solemnized at the Baptist church Wednesday morning, October 3rd, at 8 o'clock with Rev. G. A. Nelson officiating. Friends are invited through this medium as no other invitations are being issued.

News-Star--World Pattern

IT COULDN'T BE EASIER TO MAKE-OR SMARTER PATTERN 2038

This is to our mind, one of the nicest ensembles upon which we ever laid eyes. It is something you can have in a combination of materials as formal as satin or velvet and metal cloth, or as simple as flannel and a synthetic crepe. While the two types of outfits will be quite different in character, both of them will be just as chic as chic can be. The model is a vastly becoming affair. That collar is both flattering and youthful. The mounting skirt also has a young look—while the belt at the normal waistline makes it something which anybody can wear. See how attractive it is in the back! The jacket is simple and straight in line but its details are most appealing. Everybody is going to want the clever pockets, cut in angles, to which buttons matching those on the blouse call special attention. When you come to analyze it—in spite of its outstanding chic, the design is so simple that the merest beginner can make it without encountering the least difficulty.

Circus Days Are Here Again And Youth Of The City Thrill To The Old Familiar Sights

Shrill laughter and shrieks of delight from the throats of hundreds of wide-eyed youngsters will break the Sabbath calm today when they face the animal cages at the circus grounds. It is seldom the youth of Monroe have a whole day to view the animals and the circus people at their leisure. Monday is circus day in this city so Sunday on the grounds will provide almost as great a thrill as the big show itself. Much activity prevails on the circus grounds today where tents are being erected and animals groomed for tomorrow's performance. Feeding of the animals is a sight that never fails to thrill youngsters who marvel at the huge pieces of raw meat thrown to the lions and the buckets of water consumed by the elephants.

Of course nothing can compare with the circus itself—the pistol-like cracking of whips and snarls of lions and tigers, crash and blare of bands and shrill notes of the callopie all combining to make it the happiest day of the whole year for the youth of the city. The children are lost in a world of unbelievable fun and the grownups leave a world of trouble behind as they crowd into the big top and side shows. It is a better cure for what ails the country than anything else we know of. The glittering trappings of the horses, the beautiful bare back rider in white ballet costume, the antics of the clowns, the awe inspiring moment when the man on the flying trapeze pauses in mid-air and the sight of the good natured peanut munching crowd is a sure cure for the depression-blues.

buildings, bands, theaters, and quaint little places to eat, but since August the first, we have been on the road, and while that road isn't as open as it might be, being somewhat narrow and inclined to dip and turn. I think that it must be the most beautiful in the world.

Last Saturday we drove to the Dale's home near Nettlebed, and there I saw English countryside lovelier than I thought it could be. Mr. Dale has fifteen hundred acres of English land, composed of wooded hills and fields, several farms, a ruin of a church built in 1100, and Nell Gwynn's garden. I liked Mr. and Mrs. Dale very very much, and we had three glorious days at "Soundness." We took two long tramps (about eight miles each), and mummy got her smell of damp earth, as well as heaps of wild flowers and wonderful views. I was sorry to leave but we had to have on, "have on" being a selection from a long list of British slang which I have written down as dictated by Millicent Dale.

Yesterday we visited Salisbury cathedral. I think it is the most beautiful and inspiring of all the cathedrals we have visited thus far, as well as having the most interesting plan and architectural features. It has a very tall octagonal spire which rises high above the city of Salisbury, and this picture, when seen as we first saw it, from the crest of a far away hill, is simply magnificent! Salisbury is deep in a valley, and all around are patches of woods and cultivated fields in all the greens and yellows, each separated by hedges. It was a sight I shan't forget.

Today we drove to the sea, and then up and right across Dartmoor, which is the wildest country I have ever seen. When you remember that England is so very small, it seems remarkable that so much land is practically uninhabited. There are miles and miles of fiercely undulating country, covered mainly with gorse, with the steepest of hills and almost mountains of rock. I shouldn't like to be left alone in the midst of it.

Tonight we are again near the sea in a funny little town, built, it seems, on the side of a hill. The road next to the hotel has a sign saying "Impracticable to Motorists," and it looks it, but perhaps we shall try it tomorrow.

Now I have finished except to say hello to Mr. Oliver, Mac and Bobby also to Heather—and until I shall see you again, cheerio!

With much love, ALVAH.

Prominent on the October calendar of church activities is the entertainment of the Business Woman's circle of the Presbyterian auxiliary by the members of Circle No. 4, of which Mrs. Lee Hodges is chairman.

The hospitable home of Mrs. W. B. Moore, 2406 Lovers Lane, will be the meeting place Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Ben Knox, of Shreveport, Presbyterian president of Red River, will be the guest speaker.

Following the business session and Bible study lesson, a delightful social hour will be featured by the hostesses circle, during which dainty refreshments will be served and a real "talk fest" enjoyed. Each member is most cordially invited to be present on this delightful occasion.

The Newman league of St. Matthew's church met Thursday afternoon at the Parochial school hall. The Newman league will meet the fourth Thursday of each month and is open to the public. The chaplain, Father Walsh, has inaugurated a series of talks on the Bible. The following program was rendered:

Piano solo: "Kamenor-Ostrow" (Anton Rubenstein) Mildred Beard
Voice: "In the Gloaming" and "Rollin' Home" Nellie Beard
Life of Cardinal Newman J. S. Daniels, Jr.
The Bible Father Martin Walsh

To the regret of their many friends is the departure of Misses Annette and Alice Butitta, who will leave on the tenth of October to make their future home in New York City with their brothers. Misses Butitta will be employed during the day and will attend night school.

Jane Eckhart Observes Her Anniversary

Lakeside Golf and Country Club with its wide sweep of green meadow land and majestic old oaks supplied the setting on Friday for a happy gathering of beautiful children who paid their respects to a lovely young hostess, Jane Eckhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Eckhart who celebrated her seventh birthday anniversary with a party.

The games, led by Miss Lucyle Godwin served as an outlet for the joyous abandon of the children who were later invited into the dining room the club house where favors crimson balloons, lolly pops and crepe paper hats of vivid coloring were distributed. Ices and luscious little cakes in the greatest profusion were served the young celebrant and her friends who responded to the interesting invitation as follows:

HITS TO WIN, 5-1Cards Take Lead Of Full
Game As Paul Dean
Beats Reds, 6-1

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The 1934 National league pennant race came crashing down around the ears of the Giants today as the Brooklyn Dodgers, behind the magnificent pitching of young Van Lingle Mungo, beat them 5 to 1, knocked them out of the lead they've held since June 6, and just about boosted the St. Louis Cardinals right into the world series with the American league champions, the Detroit Tigers.

There is one more game to go before rigor mortis sets in officially, but as far as the world champion Giants are concerned, the situation is as desperate as it can be without hope having departed. The Cardinals gave the Red Birds a full game lead with but one to go. The Giants must win the Dodgers in the final game tomorrow while St. Louis is losing to restore the tie and force the first playoff series in major league history. Under no possible circumstance can the Giants now get better than a tie for the regular season, or the Cards worse than that.

It was a day as drab and cheerless as the Giants' prospects. Thirsting for revenge ever since Bill Terry coyly questioned for publication last winter whether Brooklyn was still in the league, the Dodgers came roaring over the bridge that separates the boroughs to play like world champions while the Giants frittered nervously all over the rain-soaked sod in the half drizzle that shrouded the play. And the swarm of rabid rooters that came with the invaders, numbering most of the 13,774 who piled in, didn't help the Giants any in their wholehearted booing and mad array of noise-making machinery.

Mungo, the young fireball right hander, was the triple threat hero of the occasion, and tonight he's on the toast of the most rabid fandom in the world. He scored the Dodgers' first run in the fifth after singling to center, taking second on a passed ball, and resting there until "Buz" Boyle singled him home with a tap to center. He drove in the second run in the sixth with another single to right after little Lonnie Frey, 21-year-old shortstop, had opened with a single to center and had been sacrificed to second by Len Koeckne.

Then to top it all off, when the desperate Giants rose against him in the ninth, with Terry scratching an infield hit and Mel Ott walking, the lanky youngster hitched up his trousers, whanged his fast one swift through the gloom, and fanned Travis Jackson, George Watkins, and Lefty Frank O'Doul in a row to end the ball game. Watkins, who belted a long homer into the right field stands in the seventh for the only score off Mungo, never saw the third strike, while O'Doul passed out without taking his bat from his shoulder.

All told Mungo, winning his 18th and final game of the season, fanned seven and allowed only five hits. His pitching rally through eight innings, big swift Leroy Parmelee, was always in trouble, and he was hit safely in every inning but the eighth, allowing ten in all while fanning seven. A rookie left hander, Al Smith, started the ninth after Parmelee gave way to a pinch hitter, but he was lifted after a walk to Koeckne and singles by Sam Leslie and Tony Caciennello drove in one run and brought ancient "Me Feek" Luque to the rescue. Two passes forced Leslie home with the final score. The Dodgers got 12 hits, all singles.

L. S. U. Stages Late Rally To Gain Tie With Rice Eleven

Neville Scores Early To Defeat Bastrop, 16 To 0Eighty-Yard Run By Pappas
Features Tigers'
Muddy Victory

By Paul Martin
Opening the game with a spectacular 80-yard run by Andrew Pappas on the kickoff and a three yard plunge through center by Bauer for the first touchdown, the Tigers of Neville high school blanked the Bastrop Rams here last night, 16 to 0, on a field of mud at Forsyth park. Two touchdowns, with extra points, and a safety accounted for Neville's score.

Both touchdowns came in the first quarter, the first on Bauer's off tackle stab and the second near the end of the period on an off tackle slash from the four yard line by Basco. Bauer and Pappas made good the extra points on linebacks. The safety, which accounted for the Tigers next two points, came about the middle of the second quarter after Clim Byrd, Bastrop's fullback, in attempting to kick out of danger from his own foot-and-a-half line, stepped out of the end zone, automatically giving the Tigers a safety.

The straight football of Neville, highly effective against the Rams, who found difficulty with their line plays and were at a loss in using their passing attack because of the slippery ball. After trying throughout the first half to penetrate the Tigers' airtight defense with an offense of their own, the Rams settled down in the second half to content themselves with holding the Neville eleven scoreless the remainder of the game. Once in the last quarter they reached the Tigers' 15-yard line, while Neville's reserves were handling the situation, but the locals pulled out of the hole when the regulars returned to finish the battle.

Byrd won the toss for Bastrop and elected to kick with Neville defending the south goal. Pappas took the kick-off on his own 20-yard marker and raced down the field behind a quick forming defense. He reached Bastrop's three-yard line before he was stopped. Bauer tried for the touchdown through center and failed, but on the next play Bauer went through a wide hole at right tackle for the first touchdown and Pierce hit the same place for the extra point but was called back when Neville was offside. Bauer made good the point by duplicating Pierce's try.

In the same quarter, Neville fullback, was taken from the game with a twisted ankle. Byrd fumbled on the 30-yard line and Luffy had recovered for Neville. Pappas went four through tackle and Bauer made inside his line end for five yards. He made three and a first down at the same place again. On the next play Bauer tried the other side of the line, only to be hit hard by Rogers, who played a great defensive game for the Rams, for no gain and had to leave the game because of the leg injury.

Richard Basco, coming into the game to replace Bauer, soon had the ball pushed to the Rams' nine-yard line and then, after hurdling the line for two yards, crashing center for three more and circling right end for four, scored Neville's last touchdown. Pappas crammed his way through left guard for the extra point.

The second quarter opened with the ball in the Rams' possession and Byrd kicking to Basco on Neville's 15-yard stripe. Basco weaved through the Bastrop eleven to the Rams' 20-yard line before he was snagged by Tod Speir. Pappas gathered in six yards at right tackle and Apper failed at right end as Byrd and Talley smothered him. A right tackle thrust by Basco put the ball on the Rams' two-yard line for another first down. On the next play Basco fumbled a chance to score but recovered the ball. He tried again but Rogers broke through to toss him for a four-yard loss. Two more line plunges by Basco put the ball on Bastrop's foot and a half line where they were held for downs.

It was then, as Bastrop attempted to kick out, that Byrd stepped out of the end zone, giving the locals their safety. Neville, which held the Rams without a first down during the field half and made seven first downs here today, 2 to 0.

The game was played in a heavy downpour of rain. Southwestern's tally came in the third quarter when the Lynx forced a safety.

Punt For 7-To-0 Victory

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Washington and Lee defeated the University of Kentucky, 7 to 0, here today by recovering a blocked punt in the final period on the Wildcats' 14-yard line, after the two teams had fought through the mud with neither able to gain consistently.

McDonald, Beasley and Ellis turned in the low gross scores, each shooting a 78. Shatto posted a 79 score. Most of the entries shot good golf, despite the wet course.

ALABAMA TRIMS
HOWARD, 24 TO 0Crimson Tide Flashes Too
Much Power For Birmingham Eleven

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Alabama showed a fine aerial attack today in the opening game and scored in every period against a fighting Howard college eleven to win, 24 to 0. A crowd of 6,000 saw the game.

Alabama pushed over a touchdown in the first four minutes of play. Howell sliced left tackle for the last three yards of the first drive.

Joe Riley, sophomore halfback who, although unusually light for his place, drives with the power of a fullback, made the second touchdown after a series of off tackle plays and passed the Tide in scoring position. Riley again carried the brunt of the third period drive that resulted in another touchdown. Demyanovich swung around left end to score from the six-yard line.

In the fourth period, Howard's forwards sifted through after a 15-yard penalty, to throw both Riley and Howell for heavy losses and the Tide was well back on its own territory. Howell dropped back to punt, but the pass was poor and players swarmed in. The halfback danced about for an opening and then flipped a 20-yard pass to Demyanovich who galloped to Howard's 16 before he was pulled down.

A penalty on Howard put the ball on the two-yard line and three line smashes later, Demyanovich crossed the goal line.

BATTING LEADERS
(By Associated Press)
The semi-final day of the major league season failed to alter the batting race materially as only Bill Terry, hitting twice in three attempts, added one point to his mark to bring it to 332 but trailed Paul Waner, national league and big six leader by ten points. Waner and Kiki Cuyler made one hit apiece to keep their averages unchanged and Lou Gehrig, American league pace setter, did the same with two blows in four attempts. Gehrig remained two points ahead of Charley Gehring, who was idle.

Deadlock With Owls

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 29.—(AP)—An ambitious, scrapping Rice eleven outplayed a powerful Louisiana State aggregation during much of the second half today and gained a 9 to 9 tie with the highly touted invaders from the southeastern conference. The hard fought contest was played before an estimated 11,000 persons.

The Tigers had to come from behind to escape their first defeat since 1932. The Owls held a 9 to 0 lead early in the fourth period and it took some excellent kicking by Mickal and the fleet "Rock" Reed to enable the Bengals to pull up even on a touchdown and a safety.

All the scoring was crammed in the final minutes of the third period and the first half of the fourth. McCauley's pass to Witt paved the way for the first Rice score. Mickal tipped the pass but Witt grabbed it and raced to the 15-yard line for 33 yards gain. The Owls could only make seven yards in three tries so the heady McCauley called for a try for field goal. Leche Sylvester of Brownsville stood on the 15-yard line and sent the piskin between the uprights.

Owl rooters hardly had time to stop cheering that kick when a Louisiana fumble gave Rice the ball in Tiger territory early in the fourth period. Smith cut off left tackle and as he was about to be stopped, tossed a short lateral to Friedman who continued 23 yards across the goal line. Sylvester failed on the try for extra point.

Mickal, considered one of the best kickers in the south, sent one sailing 65 yards a few minutes later. Smith picked it up and was tackled on the Owl one-yard line. The Owls granted an intentional safety rather than try to kick out.

Little "Rock" Reed then swung into action. He took the ensuing kick and ran 33 yards to the Rice 22-yard line. Mickal rammed the line several times for yardage, then passed to Yates to bring the ball within a yard of the Owl goal. Seago carried it across and Mickal registered his 15th consecutive point after touchdown to tie the count.

During the second period, the Owls stiffened and the Tigers were unable to capitalize on three scoring opportunities.

The Tigers amassed eleven first downs to six for the Owls.

Southern Methodist Wins
Easily From Austin Team

DALLAS, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Furnished scoring steam by Robert Wilson's flying feet, the Southern Methodist Mustangs galloped to a 33 to 0 victory today over the Austin college Kangaroos in a non-conference game.

The Methodist aerial circus flashed at No. 1 in the first few minutes of the initial period when young Wilson intercepted St. John's pass and raced 45 yards for a touchdown.

Coach Ray Morrison used practically every man on the squad. Austin did not score a first down through the Matty Bell coached line. It made two games for the Mustangs against them. An estimated 8,000 saw the Mustangs click with 18 first downs, and complete 11 out of 25 passes.

Oil Belt Tourney To Be Held At El Dorado Soon

EL DORADO, Ark., Sept. 29.—(Special)—The ninth annual Oil Belt golf tournament is to be held at the El Dorado Golf and Country Club October 6 and 7, with amateurs of clubs in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas invited to participate.

Qualifying rounds will be played prior to October 6. At 1 p. m. on that date, first round match play will start with the second round match the next morning and finals in all flights the afternoon of October 7.

All rounds are to be of 18 holes.

Mexico U. Team, 32 To 6

MEXICO, D. F., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Union university of Jackson, Tenn., defeated the University of Mexico, 32-6, before a crowd of 6,000 here today.

L. Arnold's 75-yard run back of a kick in the last period was the scoring highlight of a game in which the visitors' superior weight and skill overcame the strenuous resistance of the Mexicans. Arnold scored once in the first period also and helped put over two other scores. Mexico scored in the third quarter, Andriani plunging over from the five-yard line after Mexico had recovered a blocked kick. Three other times the home forces were held for downs within five yard line.

MEMORIAL STADIUM, GREENSBORO, N. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—North Carolina State's Wolfpack, playing its first game under the direction of Hunk Anderson, former Notre Dame mentor, tonight forced over one touchdown on an always dangerous Davidson eleven to win, 7 to 0.

SPLIT WITH NATSBambino Makes Another
Farewell Gesture With Two On Bases

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The Senators and the New York Yankees cuffed each other around freely today to divide a doubleheader, marked principally by one of Babe Ruth's triumphant farewell appearances. Washington won the opener 8 to 5 and the Yanks came back with a 9 to 6 decision in the afternoon.

Ruth celebrated the opening of his last visit to the capital as a Yankee regular by clouting his 22nd home run of the season with two mates on base in the seventh inning to take some of the sting out of the opening defeat. The Senators hopped on Johnny Broaca at the start to take this game with a 15-hit attack. The Yanks reversed the order in the second clash, getting 15 blows, mostly off Reese Diggs and Alex McColl in the early innings.

MARVIN MEETS O'BRIEN AT STADIUM WEDNESDAY

INDIAN TACKLES ILLINOIS MEANIE IN MAIN EVENT

Joe Muhle To Be Brought Here For 'Clean' Semi-Final Match

Chief Tommy Marvin, Jack Dempsey's former sparring partner who qualified for the Lion Tamer's club when he completely subdued Cowboy Luttrall two weeks ago, will be brought back to Roosevelt stadium Wednesday night for another mopping up job. Marvin will be assigned the task of taming Jack O'Brien, the Illinois meanie who has been getting out of hand here lately, and Promoter Charlie Bruscato believes Tommy will be just as successful as he was against the Cowboy.

Marvin is the only grappler to show here who has been able to take care of the situation when thrown in there against Luttrall. Of course, Tommy's job wasn't an easy one by any means but he came through in fine style and there is every indication that he'll be just as effective against O'Brien.

O'Brien has appeared in two good matches here and each time he almost had the customers on his neck. He is just about as tough as they make 'em and he doesn't hesitate to use all the fouls he can think of. In fact, he has given referees and his opponents about as much trouble as has Luttrall.

Marvin will have a slight pull in the weights, the Indian scaling 220 to O'Brien's 214. Tommy is a veteran at the game. He was first a wrestler, then he turned boxer and after Dempsey lost his title, he jumped back to wrestling. He and the former champion were big buddies and Marvin made several barnstorming tours with Dempsey after the Mauler dropped his second battle to Gene Tunney. When Dempsey quit the ring for good, Marvin went back to wrestling and he's piled up an enviable record since that time.

The Marvin-O'Brien bout will be the main event. It will be a best two out of three falls, two-hour time limit affair.

Promoter Bruscato said last night that he would bring Joe Muhle, the Texan who made a big hit last week as referee, here for Wednesday night's semi-final affair. An opponent has not been selected for Muhle but Bruscato said the match would be a "clean" exhibition. Muhle was formerly a sparring partner of Max Schmeling. He owns a stable of race horses and, according to Bruscato, wrestles only for the sport of it.

FOUR CONFERENCE TEAMS POWERFUL

Alabama, Tulane, Tennessee And Georgia Stand Out In Openers

(By Associated Press)
Alabama, Tulane, Tennessee and Georgia jumped out as the best looking football teams in the far south yesterday as the opening kickoffs resounded throughout most of the southeastern conference.

All of them had fairly easy opponents but the opposition was handled in workmanlike fashion. Vanderbilt, while not piling up an impressive score, also showed strength in defeating Mississippi State 7 to 0. The game was played on a soggy field.

The Tide found Howard harder than expected but Dixie Howell kept Howard in hot water all the time and the Alabama powerhouse seized four chances to score.

Tulane used its second team most of the way but scored practically at will to defeat Chattanooga 41 to 0. The Moccasins got as far as the Green 24-yard line once.

Georgia opened with hard, powerful running attack and easily won from the Stetson Mad Hatters 42 to 0.

The Volunteers, entering the game just after hearing Major Bob Neyland, head coach, had been transferred to Panama, effective in January, ran over Centre to a 32 to 0 score but showed weakness once when the Colonels went to the one-yard line.

Georgia Tech, playing without Phillips, star fullback, had no offense and was barely able to defeat Clemson 12 to 6. Washington and Lee evened the count for the south-

Upsets On Pacific Coast Mark Opening Of Season

Stanford Held To Tie And Trojans Barely Beat Stagg's Team

(By Associated Press)
Out on the Pacific coast the football lightning struck twice yesterday as the 1934 gridiron campaign got under way otherwise with a minimum of surprises.

Stanford, Pacific Coast conference champion last year and hopeful of making it two in a row, found Santa Clara just as tough as had been expected and wound up in a 7-7 tie in a battle before a crowd of 45,000, largest of the day.

Even more stunning, however, was the "moral victory" which Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of Pacific youngsters won by holding highly touted Southern California to a 6-0 score. Stagg's outfit stopped the Trojans without a score in the first half, yielded to the extent of one touchdown in the third period, and then obstinately refused to permit any more scoring.

Oregon's one-sided 26-3 triumph over U. C. L. A., came under the head of another far western surprise. Washington downed Idaho, 13-0, and Washington State won from Montana, 27-0, in other coast conference games.

In the east, Pitt rolled past Washington & Jefferson, 28-6; Temple swamped Virginia Poly, 34-0; Army overcame stubborn resistance from Washburn college, 19-0, and Navy trimmed William & Mary, 20-7, in leading games. Brown, Cornell, Dartmouth, Carnegie, Holy Cross, Boston college and Villanova all won with more or less ease.

Washington & Lee took advantage of a break in the closing minutes to top Kentucky, 7-0, in the south while Duke, co-holder with South Carolina of the Southern conference title a year ago, trounced Virginia Military, 46-0. South Carolina defeated Erskine, 25-0. Georgia uncovered real power in running over Stetson, 42-0. Vanderbilt whipped Mississippi State, 7-0, in a Southeastern conference fray and all the other leading favorites won.

The midwestern program was topped by Northwestern's 21-12 decision over a fighting Marquette team. Nebraska scored almost at will in beating Wyoming, 50-0, but Kansas got no better than a scoreless draw with another Rocky Mountain conference invader, Colorado university. Minnesota, touted as a possible Big Ten champion, rolled up a 56-12 count on North Dakota State.

Louisiana State invaded the southwest and was held to a 9-9 draw by Rice while Texas A. and M. was surprisingly tied by Texas A. and I. 14-14.

McGhee Owls Trounce Lake Providence, 56-0

(By Associated Press)
McGHEE, Ark., Sept. 29.—(Special)—The McGhee high school Owls smothered a light and inexperienced Lake Providence, La., team, 56 to 0, here Friday afternoon. The Owls circled the ends and went off tackle to gain at will, scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter, one in the second, four in the third and two in the fourth.

Grisham, playing his first year as a regular in the backfield, led the McGhee scoring with three touchdowns, making two after 35-yard dashes. Stuart and Avery scored two touchdowns each and Spears was on the receiving end of two passes from Grisham to mark up the remaining two scores. Lake Providence made only one first down, the result of a penalty. The work of Camp and Spears was outstanding in the McGhee line.

ern conference, however, by downing the Wildcats of Kentucky 7 to 0. Auburn played its only home game of the season and won from Oglethorpe 15 to 0.

Southwestern of Memphis feared not when the conference Sewanee Tiger came on the field and downed the Mountaineers 2 to 0 in a heavy rain.

Florida ran into a tartar fut finally won from Rollins 13 to 2.

Louisiana State went out of the conference and played a game with Rice leaving with the score deadlocked 9 and 9.

Mississippi won handily from Mississippi Teachers 44 to 0.

Chattanooga Eleven No Match For Formidable Greenie Team

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29.—(P)—Tulane's Green Wave rolled forth in its season opener here today on the crest of a swarming 41 to 0 victory over the University of Chattanooga.

The Greenie regulars sent their precision machine to a three-touchdown margin in the first quarter and the second, third and fourth string players added another touchdown by the half and two more in the third quarter.

"Little Monk" Simons raced to the first score in the first minute of play, around left tackle for 30 yards, almost unhindered by the Moccasin tacklers. Simons missed the try for extra point. Simons' run followed an unfortunate Chattanooga fumble by McColl.

The crowd of approximately 12,000 fans had hardly quit cheering Simons' dash when Barney Mintz tore through a gaping hole in right tackle for another touchdown, a dash of 44 yards. Mintz kicked the extra point.

Tulane pounded through almost to the Chattanooga goal line soon after, only to be held for downs on the Moccasin seven-yard line.

A beautiful pass, Simons to Charlie Kyle, paved the way for the Wave's third touchdown. Kyle planted the ball on Chattanooga's four-yard line after the catch and Stanley Lodriguez carried the oval over the goal line on the second play. Mintz again booted the extra point to end the scoring for the first quarter.

Lodriguez was headed for another score when Hornsby, who teamed with Hinds as the Moccasin's chief offensive threats, hauled him down as the quarter ended.

At the beginning of the second period, Coach Ted Cox ran in his "speedsters," "Bucky" Bryan and Farrell Thomas. Bryan gained 25 yards to the Chattanooga 10-yard line on a criss-cross play that brought the crowd to its feet. Tulane was held for downs and Bryan took Chattanooga's kick and raced 54 yards to the visitors' 15-yard line, where he fell down on his own speed.

Johnson, subbing for Bryan, passed to Gus Clark, subbing for Hardy at left end, to the Chattanooga three-yard line. Thomas then crossed the goal line through left tackle for Tulane's fourth touchdown. Thomas converted the extra point.

In a few plays, Thomas gained 20 yards around left end and then hit the eight remaining yards for a touchdown. Johnson kicked the extra point.

In the first two minutes of the third quarter, Henderson, subbing for Thomas, raced 48 yards where he was pulled down from behind by Hornsby on the 12-yard line. Tulane then lost five yards on two plays but a pass, Nichols, substitute halfback, to Henderson, scored the final touchdown and Dick Page kicked the extra point.

From then on, Chattanooga launched a passing attack, figuring McColl, Hornsby, Shell and Hinds, that carried them deep into Tulane territory and frequently threatened to score. But the Tulane defense was too strong for them.

The fourth quarter found a weary and battered Chattanooga squad fighting with their backs to the wall against fresh Tulane reserves who played loose football but were strong enough to prevent the Moccasin from any serious threats.

Auburn Beats Oglethorpe Before Homecoming Crowd

AUBURN, Ala., Sept. 29.—(P)—An alert Auburn eleven gladdened the hearts of a homecoming crowd of 5,000 today with a 15 to 0 win over the Petrels of Oglethorpe.

Auburn's first score came in the opening quarter as Mitchell, brilliant sophomore halfback, intercepted Clark's pass on his 25-yard line and sprinted 75 yards for the score as Bennie Fenton blocked out the Oglethorpe safety man.

Still outplayed, but ahead on the scoreboard, Auburn added two points in the second period as a bad pass from Center went over Clark's head and the little quarterback was tackled behind the goal line.

Another intercepted pass started the plainsmen on the way for their second touchdown, in the third quarter. Gilbert, playing roving center, snagged an Oglethorpe pass on their 29-yard line. Whitten, Stewart and Karam bucked their way to the two-yard line and Karam, another sophomore, plunged through for the score. Stewart place kicked goal.

The Golden Tornado, using forward and lateral passes, pushed across touchdowns in the first and second periods, but Clemson's white-jerseyed eleven came back with a sturdy defense to hold the engineers scoreless for the remainder of the game.

Clemson's lone touchdown came on the most spectacular play of the battle, as Randolph Hinson, a speedster from Kershaw, S. C., leaped into the air to intercept a Tech pass and race 85 yards for the score.

Georgia Tech Pushed To Defeat Clemson, 12 To 6

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 29.—(P)—Unable to make headway through a stubbornly fighting Clemson college line, Georgia Tech resorted to an aerial attack and end runs to defeat the Tigers 12 to 6 on Grant Field today.

The Golden Tornado, using forward and lateral passes, pushed across touchdowns in the first and second periods, but Clemson's white-jerseyed eleven came back with a sturdy defense to hold the engineers scoreless for the remainder of the game.

Clemson's lone touchdown came on the most spectacular play of the battle, as Randolph Hinson, a speedster from Kershaw, S. C., leaped into the air to intercept a Tech pass and race 85 yards for the score.

All-Stars Plan Series With Lake Providence

FERRIDAY, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)
A five-game series between the Ferriday All-Stars and the Lake Providence Sluggers will begin Sunday with a doubleheader at Lake Providence.

The next two games will be played here the following Sunday and if both squads have an even standing after the first four games, the fifth game will be played at an unannounced place.

The All-Stars have won seventeen straight victories and 22 victories during the season.

Tennessee Easily Beats Centre College, 32 To 0

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 29.—(P)—The powerful Tennessee Volunteers ran rough-shod over Centre college here today, 32 to 0. Centre, the little Kentucky school that produced a sensational championship team in 1921, was outclassed from the start.

In the second quarter, Centre was able to drive to the Vols' one-yard line, but lost the ball there on a fumble.

PLANS MADE FOR TECH'S STADIUM

Work On New Concrete Stands To Be Started Next January

RUSTON, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)—Plans for beginning work on a new concrete stadium at Louisiana Tech in January have been announced by President G. W. Bond.

The Louisiana legislature the past summer appropriated $25,000 through an "emergency measure" to provide for the erecting of new football stands at Tech. It has been promised that half of the stadium allotment will be available in January, and the remaining $12,500 will be supplied in June, 1935.

When the first installment of the stadium fund is forwarded to Tech at the first of next year, President Bond plans to begin work immediately on constructing the framework of the concrete, and the entire structure will be rushed to completion. The stadium plans call for 3,000 seats, which will be arranged in one section of 19 rows. Two or three exit ramps will be open through the stands. The seats will be of wood, raised above the concrete base.

The stadium will be built at the edge of the cinder track on the west side of the football field and will be several feet closer to the gridiron than are the present temporary stands. Dressing rooms and showers will be constructed under the elevated stadium seats.

In addition to the west side concrete stands, wooden bleachers will be erected on the east side of the field to accommodate 2,000 spectators, which will make seats available for a total of 5,000 people.

The new concrete stadium is seen as one of Louisiana Tech's most urgent needs. Last fall, the rotten wooden bleachers at Tech were condemned and burned. Temporary bleachers for the present season were bought recently. These seats will be moved to the east side of the field for next fall.

NAVY WINS EASILY

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 29.—(P)—Navy fired a broadside for all Army to see today, easily winning its opening gridiron duel against William and Mary 20 to 7.

Ole Miss Runs Over Light Memphis Teachers Eleven

OXFORD, Miss., Sept. 29.—(P)—The University of Mississippi broke the ice on its 1934 schedule and strode over a lighter West Tennessee Teachers team, 44-0, in a driving rain which turned the greensward into a quagmire and drenched the spectators.

Included in the relatively small group of fans who watched the Mississippians in their season's opener was United States Senator Pat Harrison, Congressman Wall Doxey, and other notables.

The attack of the Teachers bogged down in the opening quarter, after a game attack which penetrated to the Mississippi 20-yard line made them look threatening. Their passing attack, which had been shaped up for the Red and Blue, was of no avail in the inclement weather.

The Mississippians won by sheer power and weight, annexing one marker in the second, two in the third, and four in the final quarter. Dave Bernard, sophomore fullback, led the scoring with three touchdowns. Shifty "Red" Rodgers annexed two and Gunter and Shoemaker one each.

Fumbles were frequent, the kicking poor, but the affray established one thing—the Mississippians have the power and they will be more than formidable this season.

Not at all. You're a good salesman. Anyhow, I like to do business with you. Any salesman who comes in here looking as much like prosperity as you always do, deserves an order—or at least earnest consideration.

SALESMAN:
Well, I learned the value of putting up a good appearance. It makes me feel a whole lot peppier, too. And I see that you've learned the same lesson.

Yes, I did. Quite a few years ago. Clothes can be just as important to "inside men" as they are to salesmen. Incidentally, it was a new suit that helped put me at this desk—but that's another story.

P. WANER WINS BATTING CROWN

Pittsburgh Leads Terry
By 11 Points; Close In American Loop

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(P)—With only one more game apiece for every one concerned, Paul Waner appeared to have the National League batting title safely in his grasp today as he led his nearest rival, Bill Terry, by eleven points. But Lou Gehrig and Charley Gehring were ready to make a race of it for the American League crown right up to the final putout.

Gehrig regained a lot of lost ground during the past week and returned to second place only two points behind Gehrig while Heinie Manush slumped to a poor third, ten points away from the lead.

Gehrig added two points to his average during the week, hitting seven times in 16 attempts to reach the mark of .359. Gehring, meanwhile, made eleven blows and received official credit for another that had been previously overlooked. As a result his mark went up five points to .357.

The National League rivals both showed slight gains. Waner's mark went up two points to .362 with his hit in 21 attempts while Terry hit eight out of 20 for a one point gain.

NEVILLE BEATS BASTROP, 16 TO 0

themselves, accounted for five more first downs in the last half as the Rams made only two.

Twice the passing arm of Cliff Byrd threatened, but the ball was too slippery. A pass, Byrd to Duckworth, gave the Rams one of their first downs in the last quarter as Bastrop gained 20 yards on the throw. Another of Byrd's tosses, to Rogers, was good for 15 yards as the first half ended.

Rogers was outstanding in the Bastrop line and smeared the Tigers on reported occasions. Duckworth and Talley also played well and Orr began to break through the Neville line near the end of the game to give the Tiger backs trouble.

The entire Neville line functioned smoothly with Luffy, Poag and Causey outstanding. Tom Gillen, a reserve end who started the game in the place of Sumrell, who was ailing with a bad leg, also played well for his first time as a starter. The Neville backs were constant threats and formed their interference quickly and effectively for their ball carriers.

The lineup:
Bastrop Pos. Neville
Duckworth L.E. Gillen
Handy L.T. Luffy
Talley L.G. Crews
Orr C. Poag
Gilbert R.G. Hampton
McCormick R.T. Toney
Rogers R.E. Toney
Byrd Q.B. Pappas
Spiker H.B. Pappas
Thompson H.B. Pappas
Gray F.B. Bauer

Score by periods:
Neville 14 2 0 0-16
Substitutes: Bastrop, Hudson for Rogers; Neville, Basco for Bauer; Haddad for Basco, Sumrell for Gillen, Bell for Pappas, Gimler for Pappas, Biedenhorn for Hampton, Vanzile for Luffy, Kelly for Causey, Endon for Toney, Dowers for Crews, White for Poag, Gimler for Pappas, Lane for Pappas, G. Kelly for Dowers, Mattinson for Lane.

Officials: Malone (L. S. U.), referee; McCormick (Tulane), umpire; Bendel (Tulane), field judge; Swanson (La. Tech.), headlinesman; Smelser, timer.

Scoring touchdowns: Pappas and Basco; points after touchdown, Bauer (through line), Pappas (through line).

Farmville Trounces Junction City, 39 To 0

FARMVILLE, Sept. 29.—(Special)—The Farmville high school football team began its 1934 season with a bang by running roughshod over the Junction City Dragons to the tune of 39-0 on the home field Friday. The game was played for a greater part in a heavy rain which the big crowd of fans braved to see their most powerful team in years perform.

Aberration of Farmville was clearly the offensive star of the day, running up three touchdowns and many long broken field gains. The work of the team in interference for all plays was excellent. Pickel, although nursing a sprained ankle, made many spectacular runs. Atkins also stood out for the locals on both defense and offense. In the line work of Auger, Audles and Read was most effective, although the entire regular line upheld its duties in a most efficient manner.

For the visitors Kelley and Woods stood out in their defensive work.

Georgia Trims Stetson
ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 29.—(P)—The Georgia Bulldogs, uncovering a powerful running attack, today opened their 1934 season with a slashing 42-0 victory over Stetson. The Bulldogs handuffed the Mad Hatters from the start and held them to a lone first down.

Georgia's attack was built around the running game, with the Bulldogs averaging 100 yards a game in the first three games. The Bulldogs' running game was built around the running game, with the Bulldogs averaging 100 yards a game in the first three games.

INDUSTRIAL--REVIEW OF THE TWIN CITIES

SAFETY URGED IN PASSING SCHOOLS

Look Out For School Children Nowadays, Warns
Dick Downes

During the summer months those warnings you see on country roads and city streets, "School Ahead—Slow Down!" or "School Ahead—Watch Out!" mean little to you. You know the buildings are closed and the youngsters scattered to all points of the compass, and you continue your speed without slackening.

Now, however, those signs have a grave significance. Throughout the country, thirty million children have again picked up their textbooks and readers and are busy at their school work. The signs are a vital warning to all motorists to watch out for the youngsters, R. Downes, of the Downes Brokerage, insurance agents, said yesterday.

In spite of the efforts of school authorities and safety workers, automobile casualties still account for more child fatalities than any other accidental cause. Last year, 4,100 boys and girls of school age were killed in such mishaps, and many thousands more were injured, according to figures supplied by the national bureau of casualty and surety underwriters.

The evidence underlying the statistics appears to place the blame heavily on motorists, for the youngsters have shown a remarkable ability to watch out for themselves by observing safety rules and principles. In five years, for example, while motor vehicle accidents involving adults have increased 34 per cent, those involving children have decreased 20 per cent.

It has been said that the achievement in the schools is the brightest spot in the entire safety movement. Children can be taught to respect and obey the rules of governing their own conduct in traffic, but they are helpless if careless motorists refuse to cooperate.

Motorists, take care for school children. The sign, "School Ahead—Slow Down!" is a driving commandment.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OBSERVED

Seymour Agency Asks
Public To Pledge War
On Carelessness

In about a week—between October 7th and 13th—fire prevention week will be observed again. The week, which has become a national custom, will be formally initiated by proclamations by the president, governors of states, mayors of cities and other prominent persons in public and private life.

During the week every citizen will have a splendid opportunity to learn the fundamentals of fire prevention and control. Through speeches, newspaper and magazine articles, exhibits and other means, an intensive effort will be made to enlist the citizen's interest. He can blame no one but himself if he fails to learn.

Fire prevention is a civic duty which every citizen owes to himself and to every other person. We all pay for fire—we pay for it in lost business, destroyed jobs, higher taxes and insurance rates. On the average, each family contributes $400 a year as a tribute to Moloch—dollars which are destroyed as surely as if we tossed them into a stove. Worse still, three people—two adults and a child—out of each 39,000 of our population, are sacrificed to the pagan god—because we are ignorant and careless when it comes to fire.

In the past, it has often been the experience that fire losses dropped during the week and for a short period thereafter, only to rise again as the public gradually forgot the information gleaned. This year we should look forward to the week and devote a little time during it to really learning the fundamentals of fire prevention, then remember and practice them in the future.

GRID COACH PREFERS BUICK

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 29.—(Special)—William A. "Navy Bill" Ingram, head football coach of the University of California, has bought another Buick.

The well known mentor of the gridiron, who was a star football player in his Annapolis days, is no newcomer to the ranks of Buick owners, his first purchase having been made when he first came to Berkeley in 1931.

Ingram's latest Buick acquisition is one of the popular series forty touring sedans with built-in trunk. He purchased the car and took delivery at the Buick factory in Flint, Mich.

Before driving to California, he toured the east and visited relatives and friends of former days when he was a famous footballer and coach on the Atlantic coast.

In coming home Ingram drove his new Buick from Louisville, Kentucky, to Berkeley, a distance of 2,529 miles, in four days. He stated that he traveled in a leisurely fashion, stopping overnight at places where the best accommodations were obtainable, and paused at several towns en route to visit friends. When he did travel, however, he reports that he drove at high speeds and although the weather was extremely hot in the middle west, he experienced no trouble of any kind. Not even a stop was necessary for tires or the slightest adjustment to the Buick.

Ingram on his arrival at the U. C. campus expressed his satisfaction on the splendid condition of the transcontinental highways, stating that with few exceptions they were like boulevards for the entire distance.

Prior to his appointment as football coach at the University of California in 1931, Ingram was for five years football coach at the U. S. Naval academy. He has an outstanding record as a gridiron performer, having played halfback and quarterback for the Navy from 1916 to 1918. In 1918 he was captain of the Annapolis team, during which year he was chosen on Walter Camp's All-American team.

Oldsmobile Maintains Its Usual Monthly Increase

"Oldsmobile retail sales for the first ten days of August were 9 per cent greater than for the first ten days of July," according to D. E. Ralston, vice president and general sales manager of Oldsmobile.

"This increase in sales during the first part of August is unusual in the automobile industry," continued Mr. Ralston. "Reports from Oldsmobile dealers throughout the country indicate an exceptional demand for both the Oldsmobile six and straight eight to the end that we expect this month to be the biggest August in Oldsmobile's history."

"Both the Oldsmobile six and eight have enjoyed remarkable acceptance from the motor buying public this year. This is best proved by the fact that Oldsmobile sales to date are 100 per cent ahead of last year," said Mr. Ralston.

Extinction of their profession is feared by goldsmiths in Venice, since many motorbuses are now acting as taxicabs on the canals.

PONTIAC PLANS SERVICE SCHOOL

Manufacturers Sponsor
Important Educational Program Soon

PONTIAC, Mich., Sept. 29.—(Special)—Beginning what company officials characterized as probably the most important service school activity ever sponsored by its service department, the Pontiac Motor company is placing before the Pontiac dealers of American a nationwide campaign of instruction and education which has for its objectives the complete winter conditioning of every Pontiac car.

The winter tune-up school program, according to L. K. Marshall, general parts and service manager of Pontiac, is a cooperative activity in which both salesmen and mechanics participate. It is being carried to dealers' organizations by a trained corps of factory service men assigned to each zone office.

"Our educational program will be completed in all northern states by the end of September," said Mr. Marshall, "and one month later in the south and southwest. So that a maximum of individual attention can be given to each mechanic the number in attendance at each school is limited to twelve."

"In presenting such a complete and well organized winter conditioning plan to Pontiac owners through our dealers we have in mind the best interests of both. Thousands of motor cars are neglected through the winter months and we feel sure that if we can impress upon owners the importance of the same satisfactory operation that they experience throughout the summer, great credit will be reflected upon our dealers as well as ourselves for the foresight shown."

"The winter conditioning program which gives outstanding performance in cold weather, includes a group of four major conditioning operations, which are a complete engine tune-up, a thorough check up of the electrical system, cleaning and checking of the cooling system and a seasonal lubrication change."

Kashmir, more than 84,000 square miles in area, is the largest independent state in India.

Markets - Financial Section

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29. (P)—The cotton market was fairly active in today's short Saturday session. Liverpool cables came in rather lower than due but first trades here showed losses of two to three points.

The market soon became firmer owing to active short covering for over the week-end and the weather map showing of too much rain in the eastern belt. There was also some anxiety on the part of shorts as to what the president might say tomorrow in his radio speech.

December traded as high as 12.54, March 12.65 and July 12.77, or 16 to 18 points above the opening figures. Exports for the day were 25,352. Cotton futures closed very steady at net advances of 7 to 14 points.

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (P)—Rallies from opening declines reversed the recent trend of the cotton market today as southern selling became lighter and buying credited to mill account appeared. Reports received in the trade regarding a more general disposition of farmers to accept the 12-cent government loan offer aided the tone and December rallied from 12.33 to 12.52, closing at the high. The general market ended steady at net advances of 1 to 16 points.

Cotton futures closed steady, 13-16 higher.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Sept. 29. (P)—Down-

turns in grain prices here early today followed weakness shown in wheat quotations at Liverpool and Buenos Aires. Opening 1-4 to 1 cent lower, December new 1.03 5-8 to 3-4, Chicago wheat afterward rallied. New corn started 3-8 to 5-8 down, December new 77 7-8 to 78, and subsequently recovered a little. Wheat closed nervous, 1-2 to 5-8 under yesterday's finish. December new 1.02 3-4 to 1.03, corn 3-8 to 1-4 down, December new 77 3-4 to 78, oats unchanged to 2 cents off, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (P)—The stock market ended the week today with most traders holding down seats on the sidelines. Although there was a few scattered short and firm spots, leading issues generally followed an extremely narrow range. Dullness was the rule throughout the brief session. The close was moderately irregular. Transfers approximated only 220,000 shares.

While speculative sentiment was still inclined to be mildly bullish, Wall Street's collective mind apparently decided that caution was the best policy pending the president's "fireside" chat with the country tomorrow evening.

Opinions as to what the chief executive will say that might influence the equities market were many and varied. Brokerage circles, however, continued to hope that some of the numerous questions which have been confusing the financial sector would be answered one way or the other.

Commodities were difficult. Oats were fairly steady, but wheat and corn pointed lower. Cotton rallied sharply after dipping in the first hour. Bonds were quiet and mixed. Foreign exchanges were without any particular feature, although some of the gold currencies improved in relation to the dollar.

Metal shares, adding fractions to around a point to their advances of the previous session, included U. S. Smelting, Alaska Juneau, American Smelting, Howe Sound and Cerro de Pasco. Sterling futures got up a point and Santa Fe nearly as much. American Telephone, Western Union, U. S. Steel, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Case, Loew's, Bethlehem Steel, National Distillers Consolidated Gas, American Can, General Motors, DuPont, Johns-Manville and many others held to a restricted groove. National Biscuit dropped a point to another low for the past two years. Most of the rails were about unchanged to a bit lower.

The financial district seemed pleased with the statement of Donald R. Richberg of the national recovery forces that there would be no immediate drastic changes in the policies or operation of the reorganized NRA. Business and industrial observers also appeared heartened by the selection of S. Clay Williams, former head of one of the largest tobacco companies, as chairman of the new recovery board. This was interpreted as an indication that the bureau would follow a conservative program in dealing with the various phases of the recovery movement.

The possibility of a spring building boom, in connection with the administration's housing plans, as outlined by Assistant Housing Administrator Lewis McDonald, attracted some attention. At the same time Dun & Bradstreet estimated that, from an annual pre-depression level of $11,000,000,000, general construction has dropped to the present approximate figure of $3,000,000,000. Home building, it was found, was down to about an annual volume of $300,000,000 for the average year before the depression.

CHURCH TO HOLD PROMOTION DAY

Pupils Will Receive Special Recognition At Services

Today is promotion day at the First Christian church and at the church school hour pupils of the past year will receive special recognition and will be given diplomas and Bibles as they pass into other departments for the coming year. S. A. Moss, superintendent, is urging a full attendance of the church school enrollment in order that each pupil may be introduced to his new teacher for the coming year.

Following an interesting promotion program, which will begin at 10 a. m., the pastor, Rev. Thomas F. Jett, will conduct an installation service for officers and teachers of the church school.

Officers and teachers are: General superintendent, S. A. Moss; assistant general superintendent, E. R. Dawson; secretary, G. D. Ricketts; divisional and department superintendents, Mrs. T. C. Burford, Mrs. Thomas F. Jett, E. H. Williams, Mrs. M. C. Moore, Mrs. Louise Wroten, Mrs. R. O. Ware, Mrs. S. A. Moss and Miss Dorice Kirk; teachers: Mrs. E. H. Williams, Miss Louise Wroten, Miss Katherine Bradley, Mrs. L. B. Burris, Miss Amelia Campbell, Mrs. E. R. Dawson, Miss Katherine Wroten, Mr. L. B. Burris, Miss Dorice Kirk, Miss Eunice Dawson, Mr. E. R. Dawson, Pianist for the church-school, Mrs. J. R. Cullipher.

Bastrop

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Fuller, whose recent marriage has occasioned many delightful social affairs, were the honorees at a beautifully arranged party on Tuesday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Ingram entertained at bridge in their home on West Cypress street.

A color scheme of yellow and white was used exclusively in each appointment. Golden glow and white periwinkle, arranged with evident artistry in bowls and pottery jars, formed the floral decorations and white hand-painted tallies and score pads developed in yellow and white were adorned with orange blossoms that cleverly introduced the bridal motif. Novel white pencils topped by miniature golden bells, were placed on the bridge tables covered in maize linen.

Mrs. Dan Files held high score in the games and was presented with a lovely wall plaque. Edward Lee Gladney, Jr., who held highest score among the men, was awarded linen handkerchiefs. Mr. and Mrs. Ingram's gift to the honorees was coffee spoons in their chosen pattern of silver. The gift was most attractively wrapped in yellow tissue and tied with white satin ribbons caught with clusters of orange blossoms.

The refreshment course, served on daintily appointed trays, centered with slender tapers, tied with tulle, was a symphony in yellow and white. Yellow icing molded in the form of wedding slippers were filled with sherbet and decorated with crystallized orange blossoms. Molded salad, chives, straw, mint, and coffee accented the chosen color scheme.

Sharing the pleasures of the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Fuller were Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hawthorne, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gladney, Jr. and Mrs. Dan Files. Mr. and Mrs. George T. Madison, Mrs. L. E. Pagan, Miss Alta McBride, Miss Eugenia Files, Messrs. James Madison, Harry Hawthorne and Edwin Madison.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Madison were genial hosts to members of the club and a few invited guests, when they entertained a bridge supper on Wednesday evening at their home in North Washington street.

Colorful autumn flowers arranged in bowls and slender vases were placed at vantage points throughout the living room. The delicious supper was served buffet style from the beautifully appointed table in the dining room, and guests found their places at small tables marked by bridge place cards.

Bridge followed the supper with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gladney winning the club prize, a lovely pottery jar. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Beckman won the guest prize, and were presented with a crystal ivory bowl. Those bidden to this delightful affair were: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Douglass, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Terzia, Mr. and Mrs. Webb Madison, Mr. and Mrs. George Beckman, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tisdale, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gladney, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Trippe, Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Garner, Mr. and Mrs. James Madison, Miss Sara Mae Love of Quincy, Fla., and Mr. Edwin Madison.

A gracious affair of the week was the barbecue supper given Monday evening complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. James R. Fuller with Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hawthorne and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee Gladney, Jr., as co-hosts.

Luscious steaks were cooked in the barbecue pit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Goodwin. Guests upon arrival were greeted with the pungent, spicy odor of the savory barbecue, which was served with delicious salads, hot rolls, reheated cakes and coffee. The evening was spent in a delightfully informal way and was enjoyed to the fullest by Mr. and Mrs. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Madison, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Files, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Ingram, Mr. and Mrs. George Goodwin, Misses Alta McBride, Eugenia Files, Messrs. James Madison, Edwin Madison and Harry Hawthorne.

Friends of Mr. Lawrence Spier, Bastrop physician, who is a patient at the Bastrop General hospital, will be glad to learn that he is recuperating nicely from an appendicitis operation he underwent Tuesday night.

Mrs. A. C. Parker has returned from a most delightful three weeks' visit with friends and relatives in Lufkin, Houston, Texas, and Shreveport.

FIREMEN SEARCH FOR LOST HUNTER

But Object Of Hunt Spends Night Sleeping Peacefully By Fire

A story of how three Monroe city firemen and two of their friends spent the night searching for a lost hunter in LaFourche swamp while the object of their hunt calmly slept beside a fire was told Saturday by fellow firemen, who took the view that the joke was on the rescuers.

The lost hunter was Fred Barefoot, employee of the Ouachita Coca Cola Bottling company, 207 Walnut street, who went hunting on Thursday with his brother and a friend. During the hunt Fred Barefoot became separated from the others and when night came he was still in the swamp. After seeking him for some time the two other men returned to Monroe and asked that the American Legion emergency truck be sent out to assist in the search.

Those who made the trip from the fire station were Captain Tom Dupree, A. E. Gossett, Charles Roddy, Frank Roddy, Jr., and T. W. Thomason, the first three of whom are regular firemen. In an effort to make the missing hunter aware of their presence, the firemen fired guns, shouted, sounded their sirens and made as much noise generally as possible.

Barefoot, however, was unaware of the search for him or the presence of the firemen. When he found himself still in the swamp at dark and realized he was unable to tell directions he decided to take it as easy as possible during the night. He built a fire and lay down beside it and was soon asleep.

When Friday morning came Barefoot made his way out of the swamp, reached a highway and came on back to Monroe. The firemen arrived back in Monroe about 9 o'clock Friday morning, after having spent more than 12 hours in the search.

Government Announces Civil Service Exams

Civil service examinations for stenographers and stenographer molders and finishers have been announced here by the United States civil service commission. Full information in regard to the examinations may be obtained from Eugene Shows, secretary of the board of examiners, at the postoffice in Monroe.

Notice was given as follows: "The United States civil service commission has announced open competitive examinations as follows:

"Stenographer, typewriter-finisher, typewriter-molder, $1.32 an hour, government printing office, Washington, D. C. Four-year apprenticeship, or equivalent in practical experience, required. Closing date, October 22, 1934.

"Nator sorting machine operator, $1.440 a year, various branches. A requirement is at least three months of full-time, paid experience in operating a Nator sorting machine. Closing date, October 22, 1934.

"The salaries named are subject to a deduction of not to exceed 5 percent during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, as a measure of economy, and also to a deduction of 3 1-2 per cent toward a retirement annuity.

"All states except Iowa, Vermont, Virginia, Maryland, Rhode Island, and the District of Columbia have received less than their quota of appointments in the apportioned departmental service in Washington, D. C."

Child Is Injured When Struck By Automobile

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Sept. 29.—(Special)—In crossing the road to his home near Roosevelt, after alighting from the school bus, Julius Lightsey, 8, was struck by a car driven by H. Wells, who is connected with a show that will be in Tallulah during the Tri-Parish fair. Cliff Jones, East Carroll parish deputy sheriff, called Mr. Wells to the sheriff's office for questioning, but after a thorough investigation of the case no charges were filed, as the accident was declared unavoidable. Young Lightsey is now a patient in Street's sanitarium with both legs and his left arm broken.

TO RESTORE TEMPLE NANKING.—(P)—The Chinese government is planning to spend $30,000 on repairing the Temple of Confucius at Chufu, Shantung, the birthplace of the great sage.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

The Story Of The Philippines—Part VII

By J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

UNDER THE TERMS OF THE TREATY OF PARIS, WHICH BROUGHT THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR OF 1898 TO A CLOSE, THE UNITED STATES ACQUIRED THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

THIS WAS A BLOW TO AGUINALDO, FILIPINO INSURGENT LEADER, WHO HAD HOPED TO SECURE INDEPENDENCE FOR HIS PEOPLE. HE REGARDED AMERICAN RULE AS MERELY A CHANGE OF MASTERS FOR THE FILIPINOS.

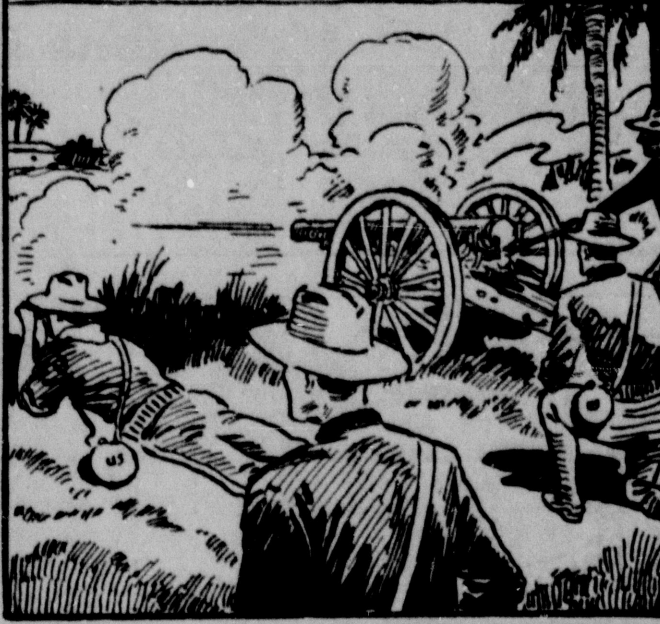

IN VAIN PRESIDENT MCKINLEY PROCLAIMED TO THE FILIPINO PEOPLE, "WE COME NOT AS CONQUERORS, BUT AS FRIENDS." AGUINALDO PREPARED TO MAKE WAR ON THE UNITED STATES TROOPS IN THE ISLANDS AS INVADERS—!

TWENTY THOUSAND FILIPINO INSURRECTOS WERE INTRENCHED AROUND MANILA, MENACING GENERAL OTIS'S ARMY OF SOME 12,000 AMERICAN REGULARS AND VOLUNTEERS THAT HELD THE CITY.....

THE AMERICAN CONGRESS WAS TO VOTE UPON THE RATIFICATION OF THE TREATY OF PARIS ON FEBRUARY 6, 1899. RATIFICATION WAS CERTAIN. ON THE NIGHT OF FEBRUARY 4TH AGUINALDO ATTACKED THE AMERICAN OUTPOSTS AT MANILA.

THE AMERICANS WERE ON THE ALERT AND THE ASSAILANTS WERE HURLED BACK. THE NEXT DAY MACARTHUR'S DIVISION TOOK THE OFFENSIVE AND DISLODGED THE FILIPINOS FROM THEIR INTRENCHMENTS.....

STORMING FORTIFIED CHURCH, BINANDO.

IN A SERIES OF SHARP AND BLOODY ACTIONS THE AMERICANS DROVE THE INSURGENTS FROM THE SUBURBS OF MANILA NORTH OF THE PASIG RIVER.

HAND-TO-HAND AT CALOOCAN--

AGUINALDO RALLIED HIS FORCES AND MADE A DESPERATE STAND AT CALOOCAN. ON FEBRUARY 10TH MACARTHUR'S TROOPS ATTACKED AND CAPTURED THE TOWN, THE FILIPINOS SETTING FIRE TO MANY NIPA GRASS HUTS IN THEIR RETREAT.....

SCENE OF FIGHTING AROUND MANILA, FEBRUARY, 1899.

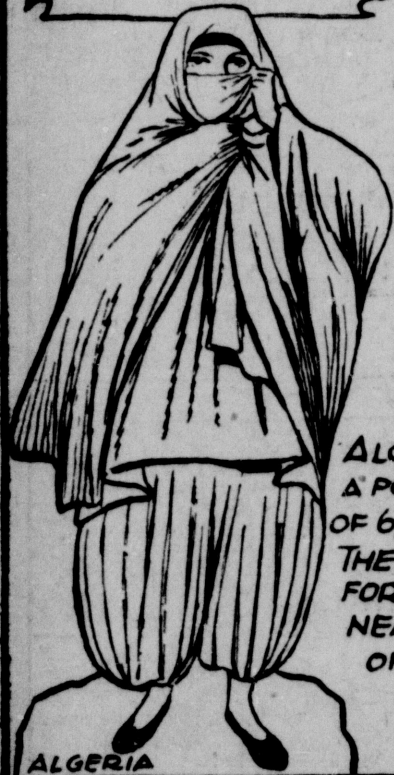

THE CAPTURE OF CALOOCAN GAVE THE AMERICANS CONTROL OF THE RAILWAY, VITAL FOR BRINGING UP SUPPLIES. IN FIVE DAYS' FIGHTING THE AMERICANS HAD LOST 258 MEN, THE FILIPINOS 2500. FOUR THOUSAND INSURRECTOS HAD BEEN CAPTURED.

THEN THE AMERICANS MADE A DETERMINED ADVANCE UP THE MANILA-DAGUPAN RAILWAY. AFTER WEEKS OF HARD FIGHTING THEY REACHED AND CAPTURED MALOLOS, THE INSURGENT "CAPITAL" (MARCH 31), BUT THE ELUSIVE AGUINALDO ESCAPED.

"Publicity!" Roared the Judge, the Prosecutor Agreed Vehemently, But Wedding Bells for the Daring Dancer and the Aviatrice Drowned Out Their Thunder

PROBABLY, if you asked R. C. (Danny) Dowling, the gifted dance director, what NOT to do when you proposed to a girl, he would say:

And Danny wouldn't be kidding about it. He knows, for according to the present Mrs. Dowling (the former Marjorie Crawford), that was exactly what he did when he asked her to be his one and only wife, now and forever.

What happened to them both after that comprises one of those fantastic stories that perhaps could be played out iron, sweet, that's a water-pistol.

Danny—We gonna go to Yuma, gal.

And this here is a shooting iron!

Marjorie—(Rises and stretches) Oh, all right, you bossy old thing. But I can't go in this dress. (She reaches for the flowered costume she always wears when she goes to Yuma, which is the Far Western Gretna Green, and steps into the next room, followed by the nimble-footed buck-and-wing expert.)

ACT II
(Outside of Miss Crawford's stately old Hollywood bungalow. At the curb, Dowling's high-powered motor-car is palpitating at the curb as though eager to do its part in the daring love "snatch".)

Dowling—(Coming out of the house with Marjorie. Adoration is still Danny. Stop threatening my life. I am scared almost witless. Besides it's my pistol you have.

Dowling—Ha, ha, so it is, ha, ha.
(They get into the car and whiz off.)

The third act of the little play should have been staged at the preacher's house at Yuma. But, as it turned out, there were as many acts and scenes in this comedy-drama as there are in the major opera of Eugene O'Neill. And some of the acts of the Dowling-Crawford elopement aftermath were much funnier than Marjorie Crawford Dowling, Beautiful 25-Year-Old Actress-Aviatrix Whose Romance Almost Crashed, All, the Judge Said, Because of Her Love of Publicity.

"The gallant dancer, after filling the tub for the lady, handed her a towel, averting his face so she would not be too embarrassed."

like butter," he concluded poetically, "like butter in the noon-day sun, and agreed."

During a recess, Dowling, seeing Miss Crawford alone in a courthouse corridor, rushed up to her and planted a kiss on her cheek. Later, while he testified, he stood up in the attitude of a man defying the world, and cried, "I love her and she loves me."

Nevertheless, Municipal Judge Chambers ruled that Dowling must face trial on the kidnaping and assault charges. The $5,000 bail set was immediately supplied by the dancer.

A short time later, the couple appeared together in the courtroom of Superior Judge Fletcher Bowron, before whom the case had been set for trial. They walked in arm-in-arm, smiles on their youthful faces, and announced that they were married and wanted the charges dismissed.

"The courts cannot be made tools of publicity-seeking individuals," thundered the Judge to the Newlyweds. "Either Dowling must be prosecuted on the charges made against him or else the one who made the charges must be prosecuted for perjury."

sensation of the trial came when J. Leroy Herbert, Dowling's attorney, cross-examined the fair and well-nigh hysterical complainant.

"Now, Miss Crawford," he asked, "didn't you take a bath while you were in Yuma?"

The aviatrix-actress, who is not only wise but also wealthy, admitted she had. "Why didn't you lock the bathroom door?" she asked. "I don't know," he answered. "I don't know," she demanded.

"I was afraid," Marjorie answered shyly, averting her eyes from the burning stare of Danny Dowling, who was perched on the edge of his front-row seat.

But despite her intensive study of law it appeared that Judge Brown knew even more about legal matters than she did. He promptly explained that there was a little-known California law that says a wife must testify against her husband if she is the injured party in the case.

But love found a way. District Attorney Pitts said he was "fed up" and some time later requested the judge to drop the whole matter and put an end "to all their publicity."

The Judge, in dismissing the charge, was stern indeed. "You have injured your husband," he said, "and cost the State of California a good deal of money."

"I helped her undress," he said in a loud, clear voice. "She became faint as I looked at her." He looked she started for the bathroom. I rushed out to get her some restoratives and when I returned she was in the bathroom with her head hanging over the tub, too weak, apparently, to proceed with her bath. So I drew the water,"

Miss Crawford slumped forward in her chair and pleaded for a glass of cold water.

"We have been sweethearts for a long time," Danny continued. "I struck her once. I may be guilty of assault but not kidnaping. I hit her, then she said she loved me and suggested we go to Yuma immediately and get married. I melted reporters: "Even if they should send me away forever, I haven't any kick, I guess. I've known what it is to be happy. I've won the girl I've wanted—even though the course was full of hazards!"

Safely Beyond the Shadow of Prison Walls at Last, Dapper Danny Dowling, the Daring Dancer, Embraces His "Kidnaped" Bride, Marjorie Crawford Dowling.

"On arriving at Yuma, Dowling guarded me constantly with a gun all the time we were at the hotel."—Marjorie.

Beverly Hills, California.
TIME: Evening, March 30,
1934.

The blonde Miss Crawford is cuddled up on a divan reading a good book she has just borrowed from the local lending library. Dapper Danny Dowling enters, his hand in his pocket and a look of adoration on his attractive, smooth-shaven face.

Dowling — (It is obvious that he is deeply moved by the little tableau presented by his dream girl reading a book. It is like a glimpse of the future, him coming home from a hard day's dancing to the little woman who has spent the entire day improving her mind.) Well, baby, let's go to Yuma.

Marjorie—Oh, Danny, I told you I loved the desert, but not tonight. I feel that the sight of all those sand dunes would too, too bore me.

Danny—Well, I see I must do what I must do. There's no getting out of it, I must do it. (He draws out a gun. She laughs haughtily.)

Marjorie—Who do you think you are, Mr. D.? Tom Mix? That's no shooting-only against the papier-mache, sunshine-drenched background of the California film capital.

For one thing, their pictures were printed in the newspapers. This the Dowlings didn't mind at all, because in Hollywood where they live publicity is rated just under emergency negotiable value.

But when Byron E. Fitts, the District Attorney of Los Angeles County, heard the story that Danny had, according to Marjorie, forced his way into her home, and, pointing a gun at her, compelled her to go with him to Yuma, Arizona, the prosecutor haled the twinkletoes kid (Mr. Dowling) into court on a charge of kidnapping and assault. In the end, the gracious "victim" decided not to go through with the case. But His Honor then threatened her with arrest and trial on a charge of perjury.

"We are in the soup!" exclaimed Mr. Dowling.

"Alas and alack," moaned Marjorie. "I have been marched up to the altar time and again" (one of her husbands was William Wellman, the movie director, another was Cecil Crawford) "but such a thing has never happened before to poor little me!"

Written in scenario form with movie dialogue added by a Hollywood writer the great kidnaping drama, as told by attractive Miss Crawford, might begin as follows:

An amazing match trick

HERE IS A TRICK THAT IS MYSTIFYING WHEN PERFORMED, BUT ALMOST CHILDISHLY SIMPLE
OF EXECUTION. TWO MATCHES ARE PICKED UP, ONE BETWEEN THE THUMB AND FOREFINGER OF EACH HAND, AS SHOWN AT A. THE HANDS ARE BROUGHT TO-GETHER AND BEHOLD! THE MATCHES HAVE APPARENTLY PASSED RIGHT THROUGH EACH OTHER AND ARE INTER-LOCKED, AS IN B. IN A MOMENT THE HANDS ARE DRAWN APART, AND THE MATCHES STILL REMAIN IN PLACE.

THE SECRET IS SHOWN IN THE LARGE DRAWING.
THE HEAD OF THE MATCH ADHERES TO THE FOREFINGER; AT THE MOMENT OF MEETING THE THUMB IS DROPPED SLIGHTLY, LEAVING SPACE FOR THE
OTHER MATCH TO PASS. THIS REQUIRES A LITTLE PRACTICE;
YOU MUST BE CAREFUL TO LOWER THE THUMB, NOT RAISE
THE FOREFINGER. THE MOVEMENT OF THE THUMB IS MASKED BY THE HAND AND WILL NOT BE NOTICEABLE.
